Daly City Opens Arms to Viet Orphans

By FRANK LaPIERRE

One of the longest emergency caravans ever to assemble in the Bay Area snaked its way through slick rain-swept streets toward San Francisco International Airport from the Presidio Saturday night.

The caravan was scheduled to meet Pan American Flight 842, loaded with 320 Vietnamese orphans. Emergency vehicles were prepared to transport the children to the Presidio and some to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

All day, dozens of vehicles and hundreds of civilian and military volunteers gathered at Harmon Hall next to Crissy Field in the shadow of the Golden Gate Bridge readying to care for a planeload of children.

And all day rumors were flying as fast and furious as the truckloads of supplies were being unloaded.

One rumor had it that President Ford would meet the 320 Vietnamese orphans at Harmon Hall at the Presidio.

Another rumor had the giant Pan American 747 had been sidetracked to Oregon, for reasons no one could ever quite put their fingers on.

Harmon Hall was sealed off and security was tighter for the orphan quarters than it ever was for the President, himself.

The precaution was taken after some people decided to try to walk off with a couple of children during an earlier mercy mission, it was explained.

A representative of Meade-Johnson Company, whose organization donated some 8,000 bottles of baby formula, said he was prepared to donate even more if necessary.

More than 14,000 disposable diapers were stacked, ready for use, along with bottles of baby aspirin, thermometers, tubes of antiseptic ointment and some 600,000 of penicillin.

The caravan was made up of 16 military buses, a dozen private buses from Bay Area companies, ambulances from throughout the area, military and civilian police escorts.

Finally, shortly before 7 p.m., the caravan starts out from Harmon Hall — headquarters of a local Army Reserve Unit.

Several hundred yards later it stops.

There would be two more long stops before it finally got underway to the airport where President Ford would coincide his arrival in Air Force One with the PanAm "babylift."

There were 30 doctors and about 25 nurses riding in the caravan — all volunteers — with others waiting as backup at Harmon Hall.

Inside the giant buses, Red Cross volunteers waited to carry the tiny children — most of them under two years old.

The driver of the Mercy Ambulance Company bus, this reporter was riding in was Jim Irvine, 21, who was backed up by medical steward Robin Hemmick, 23.

Hemmick was on vacation and Irvine had just completed a 56-hour shift, but decided the mercy mission was more important than rest.

In the back of the ambulance was Dr. Sheldon Gross, head pediatrician at Mary's Help Hospital, and nurse Cheryl Orloff, of U.C. Moffett.

Cheryl's husband, a physician, was riding a block behind in another ambulance.

The team in the Mercy Ambulance unit knew what it probably would be called on to do, and were prepared with both the know how and supplies.

Through the drizzle the caravan followed its police escort along San Francisco city streets, onto the Freeway at Sixth Street, then off the Bayshore Freeway at the main airport off-ramp and into Pan American's west gate — out of view of the terminal.

Once the plane had landed and had been boarded by medical technicians and nurses, and once President Ford and his entourage of cameramen had snapped all the photos they felt necessary, the three sick babies were loaded into the ambulance unit and, with Dr. Gross, Nurse Orloff and Irvine attending the sick, headed for Mary's Help Hospital.

Viet Children Are 'Doing Very Well'

All nine Vietnamese orphans brought into Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City over the past three days are responding well, a hospital spokesman said today.

So well, in fact, three of the babies have been sent "home."

Little "Lucy" has gone home to her new parents in Milpitas, while two others were returned to Harmon Hall at the Presidio for transfer to future parents.

One baby, whose age has not as yet been determined, was brought to Mary's Help Tuesday night for treatment of chickenpox and malnutrition, it was learned.

Little "A.C. Belgium," who was brought directly from a Pan American 747 mercy flight to the hospital Saturday night suffering from pneumonia, diarrhea and malnutrition, is also "doing very well," the spokesman said.

Barbara Christensen, public information officer at Mary's Help, said another six children are expected to be brought to the hospital for treatment "sometime today (Tuesday)."

Staff and volunteers have been working around the clock to care for the orphans and the 13 other pediatric patients being cared for in separate sections of the hospital.

DC Brothers Indicted For Local Robberies

What local law enforcement agencies are calling the brains behind a large scale bank robbery ring was believed to have been broken up April 1 with indictments being handed down on three brothers.

Two of the brothers — Lafayette, 28, and Robert Thomas, 25 — were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury Tuesday on nine counts of robbery allegedly committed in the area over the past three years.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Daly City police officers arrested two brothers during raids in Daly City and San Francisco April 1.

In all, 10 persons, including three teen-agers, were picked up in a raid on a private home at 34 Ardendale Court, Daly City about 9:45 p.m.

The third brother, Jerome Thomas, about 22, is still at large, police said.

The indictments against the trio charge the brothers with being the brains behind the holdup of eight local banks and a San Francisco post office.

"According to Daly City Det. Terry Hanebeck the Thomas brothers recruited narcotics users, to hold up banks after they planned and provided whatever was necessary to pull off the robberies."

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Daly City investigators had been working on the case for the past three years, it was learned.

Hanebeck called the arrests "the most satisfying I've ever taken part in."

Lafayette Thomas also was charged with three counts of heroin sales to federal agents totaling some $3,000, police said.

Bail of $150,000 was set for the brothers.

Police said that during the three-year period the ring was in operation, nine banks, savings and loan associations and a post office were robbed, netting the alleged robbers more than $46,000.

Two of the alleged Daly City "masterminds" were brought before U.S. Magistrate Richard Goldsmith who set the bail and arraignments. Robert Thomas appeared in U.S. District Court Friday and Lafayette Thomas will appear April 11. Asst. U.S. Atty. Lawrence Callaghan is quoted as saying that the accused assertedly were the brains behind the robberies, but had others do the actual hold-ups.

Previously returned Federal Grand Jury secret indictments list nine counts against the three brothers. Only one involves armed robbery. Eight others list charges of aiding and abetting.

All of the robberies occurred in San Francisco, except for one on Feb. 28 which took place in Brisbane at the Malatesta Bank of America at 70 Old County Road. That charge named Jerome ("Poochie") Thomas.

According to authorities, Lafayette Thomas also is charged in a separate indictment with two counts of delivering and distributing heroin.

In each case, the aiding and abetting counts state that the tellers and customers were assaulted and their lives placed in jeopardy because of weapons used.

According to the indictments, the three accused brothers entered only one of the institutions robbed.

Most of those actually involved in the hold-ups, according to the police, already have been indicted and some of them already have been convicted.

Parking Lot Moves Closer To Reality

Construction of a new multi-level parking garage at the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit station on John Daly Avenue moved closer to realization Thursday with receipt of federal funds for the project.

The California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) announced it had received some $187 million in federal funds under the Accelerated Highway Projects Act.

Heading the list of projects to be completed with this money is the $6.5 million BART station garage.

When completed, the garage will be able to provide parking for 1,100 cars.

A new traffic flow system also will be built, it was announced.

Health Center Aid Threatened

Upwards of 20 patients a day are visiting the Guadalupe Health Clinic in Daly City for medical treatment.

But, unless quick and decisive action is taken by the Board of Directors of that non-profit corporation to hire a new center director and an additional physician, the community's needy may be cut off from this aid, some observers believe.

The clinic has been rocked by controversy in recent weeks, culminating in the ousting of Shirley Rae Calhoun, also known as Shirley Rae Bradford, as interim center director.

Ms. Calhoun subsequently was fired by direction of the Board as clinic manager, a post she was hired to fill by former center director Ed Rivera.

There had been hope expressed by some Board members — who themselves are split into warring factions — that Daly City (which has some $100,000 invested in the clinic) would "takeover" the center.

But City Attorney Albert Polonsky says to accomplish a takeover under corporate law would be difficult.

Furthermore, Polonsky doesn't think the city would be receptive to such a move, inasmuch as it would then be responsible for all financial obligations of the clinic-corporation.

The city might act as a sort of "advisory body" until the clinic gets back on an even keel, Polonsky suggested.

Here are a few of the events that have rumbled through the center in recent weeks:

Ms. Calhoun was fired by a majority of the Board as Interim Center Director and stepped down to her position as clinic manager.

Ms. Calhoun was then ousted as clinic manager along with acting Fiscal Director Ina Ramsey by subsequent Board instruction.

The city was asked to takeover the clinic operation after all records were seized by center Treasurer Maria Borrego.

Some records were returned in order to pay bills — after a member of the city's finance department and a representative of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) reviewed the records.

The clinic was, for a time, threatened with a walkout of its 53 employes unless the payroll was met. The payroll was met on time, it was learned.

Leon Cooper, director of Mental Health Services, was instructed to act as interim head of the clinic by the Board majority.

Dr. Amparo Haskell was terminated and the clinic's other physician, Dr. Raymond Donovan, has submitted his resignation effective within a month.

Giammona: 'We Don't Want Brisbane'

The City Council of Daly City Monday held a whirlwind public study session that lasted less than 20 minutes.

Longest item "discussed" was a blast by Councilman Anthony Giammona at alleged statements made by former Brisbane Mayor Anja Miller who indicated Daly City wanted to annex San Bruno Mountain so eventually it could annex Brisbane.

"We don't want Brisbane. We've never wanted Brisbane. And she can have Brisbane," Giammona angrily announced.

Giammona's statement came after he said, he had recently read an article in a Sunday paper concerning San Bruno Mountain "and our desire to annex Brisbane."

He attributed the annexation statements to Councilwoman Miller.

In all, there were 13 routine items on the agenda scheduled to come before the regular meeting of the council next Monday. Each was dealt with in less than a minute.

'Tell Them Dillinger Held You Up'

Two masked men armed with sawed off weapons held up the Security Pacific National Bank of the Serramonte Shopping Center Monday noon and escaped with an estimated $1,500 from two tellers' windows.

One of the men shouted to the scattering of customers and a half dozen employes inside the bank, "Tell them John Dillinger held you up," as he ran to a waiting car.

About 12:35 p.m. the two men entered the bank.

One of the men wore a ski mask pulled down over his face. The other wore a motorcycle crash helmet with the visor pulled down, police said.

While one of the robbers covered customers and employes, the other jumped the counter and emptied the tellers' cash drawers, putting the money in a pillow case.

The pair fled in a green Ford Pinto, witnesses told police.

Police determined the car had been stolen in San Francisco earlier. However it has not yet been found.

A similar hold up, by two men wearing ski masks, occurred a short time later at a San Francisco Bank of American branch, police said.

John Dillinger was a notorious bank robber of the 1930s who was made Public Enemy Number One by then-FBI head, J. Edgar Hoover.

The FBI shot Dillinger to death as he left a Chicago theater with girlfriend late one night.

Dan Dailey Court Date

Actor Daniel James Dailey, 39, will have his day in court on April 30 at 9 a.m., North San Mateo County Judicial District Municipal Judge Jose DeLarios ruled Monday.

Dailey was not present to hear Judge DeLarios.

Instead, his attorney, Robert G. Kane of San Mateo, represented him at the 9 a.m. hearing in South San Francisco.

Dailey has been charged with striking an airline employe when he refused to give Dailey a boarding pass at San Francisco International Airport two weeks ago.

Kyriakis Redevelopment Head

Newly appointed Daly City Mayor Victor Kyriakis was named to head the Daly City Redevelopment Agency Monday night.

Kyriakis earlier was appointed to the chairmanship of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District in Daly City.

The NSMCSD is a three man board made up of two Daly City councilmen and San Mateo County Supervisor James Fitzgerald.

Councilman William Schumacher was appointed vice chairman of the DCRA.

Orphans Being Treated at Mary's Help themselves nurses) were standing by.

An entire section of the pediatrics ward on the fourth floor had been set aside for the orphans. Personnel were scurrying around making last minute arrangements to receive the sick children.

Shortly before 11 p.m. the ambulance containing the first three Vietnamese babies arrived and were hurried upstairs.

While nurses began carrying out Dr. Gross' medication orders, the doctor headed back to Harmon Hall where he found six more children that needed medical attention.

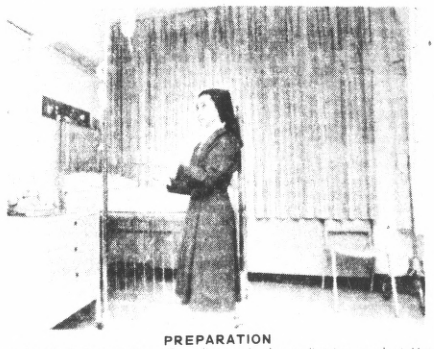
All the children were suffering from chickenpox and various stages of malnutrition. One small boy — Charles is the name on his bed — also had pneumonia.

Most of the "names" on the Vietnamese orphans' nametags are not their real names. They are thought to be, in most cases, the names of whomever processed them in Saigon and placed them aboard the aircraft. But for identification purposes, hospitals are sticking by the "names."

"We are prepared to handle between 10 and 20 children," Sister Patricia said.

They may have to!

After cutting through some Vietnamese government red tape, the babylift is on again, with hundreds more children expected to land in the Bay Area this week.



PREPARATION

County Employes Oust Union Chief

By DUANE SANDUL

Frank Gillis, credited for getting "public employe unionism on its feet" in San Mateo County, has been ousted as executive director and chief negotiator by Council 57 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

The council represents seven locals and nearly 5,000 county, city and school district employes in San Mateo County.

Gillis' ouster results a philosophical difference over the style of unionism from — allegedly "bossism" vs. "rank-and-file" participation, according to sources.

Gillis, 53, told The Post, "There's no question I wanted to run a tight ship."

He added, "There were differences of opinion about a lot of things . . . long and varied." He declined "public comments" about the differences.

Gillis' ouster came late last month, but was not made public at that time. A meeting of union delegates to choose a successor is scheduled for Thursday.

The ouster vote was by a 9 to 1 margin, according to the union's newspaper, which was distributed today. However, the number of those voting was not disclosed.

Several persons were willing to discuss Gillis and the in-house battle which led to his ouster if they were not identified in the press.

According to these sources, Gillis was what they considered a "conservative unionist and authoritarian," while much of the membership was transforming toward a direction of "rank and file" participation.

Although recognized for achieving successful negotiations during his 13 years as union boss, some employe locals began to allege that Gillis wasn't as "aggressive" as they would have liked him to be.

About five months ago, Daly City Local 919 requested that Gillis be removed as their business agent, allegedly because of philosophical differences.

This was followed last month by a request from Local 829 to remove Gillis as the business representative for the probation-detention unit of the local, as well as to have him removed as chief negotiator.

When that was achieved, a problem of reassignments to the union's two other business representatives, Tom Jones and Pete Manion, developed because they were considered "overloaded."

"As a result of the inability to make these reassignments, the Council 57 executive board (three persons) unanimously recommended that Gillis be terminated," according to the union newspaper.

However, according to sources, the events of the past three months simply climaxed a situation which had been brewing for two or three years. Gillis himself said differences had developed long ago.

Said one source close to the picture, "In a nutshell, it boiled down to whether this union would continue to be run in the style of union bossism or democratic rank-and-file."

Gillis, while stating he was a "tight ship" operator, declined further comment on that point.

Various unionists contended that the ouster does not reflect a division in the union which the county could manipulate.

Said one, "The county recognized Frank Gillis as a professional so they had no problems with him. There will be no decline in the quality of negotiations."

During his tenure, the number of jurisdictions represented by the union doubled and the membership tripled, according to statistics.

"Frank Gillis got public employe unionism on its feet in San Mateo County and is responsible for substantial gains for public employes," said one source.

Gillis agreed, noting that he developed and expanded the union to the point where today it represents employes of six cities in the county, 2,700 county employes, six school districts, Sequoia Hospital, Servicar employes and several district employes.

"In this line of business, it's always uncertain," Gillis said.

Chope Wins Accreditation

San Mateo County's Chope Community Hospital has won full accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

State to Visit Bruno Mountain

By BOB HEMINGWAY

State Director of Parks and Recreation Herbert Rhodes will send staff members to San Mateo County for a first-hand look at the proposed San Bruno Mountain park site to determine if a park there will be of regional significance and if the state should assist in financing purchase of property.

James V. Fitzgerald, chairman of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, made the report Friday from Sacramento following a discussion with Rhodes and Claire Dedrick, state secretary of resources.

Fitzgerald was accompanied by Supervisor Jean Fassler and County Director of Parks and Recreation John T. Brook, Jr.

They had gone to the capital after receiving a letter from Rhodes stating that the state would be interested in participating in the San Bruno Mountian park project.

Fitzgerald had earlier written to Mrs. Dedrick asking state financial assistance so the county could purchase more than the 1,250 acres presently planned and make a "truly regional park" of about 2,000 acres. He proposes purchasing the Buckeye Canyon and Juncus Ravine areas.

When he departed for Sacramento Friday, Fitzgerald said he intended to propose that the state purchase the entire mountain.

He made the suggestion, Fitzgerald said, "and it was a point of departure."

The board chairman reported that Rhodes, in agreeing to send staff members on an inspection trip, "expressed interest in participating."

He said that Rhodes also suggested that in view of the interest expressed by the cities of San Francisco, South San Francisco, Daly City, San Bruno and Brisbane in the park development that they should be asked to make contributions for the park acquisition.

Fitzgerald stated that Rhodes told him he doesn't believe the mountain qualifies as a state park location.

Also, the chairman related, Rhodes is concerned about state involvement while hearings are in process concerning the proposed Crocker Land Company development on the mountain. He asked for a status report on the matter, which Fitzgerald said the county will supply.

Fitzgerald also reported that Rhodes informed him that he intends to oppose the oill introduced by Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, D-Daly City, calling for a three-way purchase of the Pacific beach properties.

Rhodes told him he would rather the county seek funding for the purchase under a state grant than through a special bill in the legislature, Fitzgerald said.

The bill calls for the county and the state to supply 25 per cent each of the purchase cost, with the federal government to contribute 50 per cent. The City of Pacifica would operate and maintain the beach area.

But there was fear expressed Friday athat Fitzgerald may be "grandstanding on the proposed park purchase when in fact he may "sell out" to the state for something less than what some North County environmentalists want.

Mrs. Bette Higgins of South San Francisco and Mrs. Elie Larsen of San Bruno Friday questioned why a letter from the state dated March 25 came to Fitzgerald asking the conference in Sacramento but which wasn't distributed to the other supervisors.

Trustee Ken Austin Quizzes On Vocational Education

No sooner had Kenneth Austin been elected president of the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees Thursday night, that he began quizzing Floyd Hunter on the success of vocational education programs in the city's schools.

Hunter, the district's vocational education coordinator, said one-fourth of all high school students are receiving training for occupations that they could enter after graduation.

These occupations include secretary, mechanic and machinist.

"This training also may help someone get a college education," Hunter said. "This may mean part-time employment, summer employment or what-have-you to help someone finance his education."

Hunter said the goals of the vocational education program are to develop vocational awareness in the students and make vocational education classes open and easily accessible.

"How successful have we been in meeting these priorities?" Austin asked.

"I think we are doing a good job, an effective job," Hunter replied. "I don't like to say we've gone as far as we can go. I think we need to involve more people. We need more work experience programs, particularly for the girls.

"If they are interested in office work, we need to start programs for them," he continued. "Presently we only have one program for them and that is in child care."

Mrs. Roseann Emerson, whose daughter is a first-grade student, asked if girls could enter programs such as mechanics that traditionally have catered to boys.

"You said you want new programs for girls," she said, addressing Hunter. "Aren't girls encouraged to take programs that were meant for boys? The world is changing."

"The girls can get into any program that the boys take," Hunter answered. "We don't discriminate at all. We have encouraged girls to enter areas where we think there is a chance of employment in what has been a more typically male occupation.

"But we don't suggest they enter programs where there are no jobs," he continued. "We have to be realistic. We know there is only limited employment for women mechanics."

Hunter said vocational counselors encouraged girls to take classes in machine shop, because a particular company was recruiting women machinists. But he said most of the girls weren't interested.

The district offers a new work experience program for students interested in medical occupations. Students are working in dental and medical offices and at Kaiser Hospital. They are not paid.

The district spends about $540,000 annually for vocational education and receives about $44,000 from the federal government, it was explained.

The board will consider at a later date a plan to consolidate the district's Regional Occupation Program with that of the Jefferson Union High School District. Such a consolidation might result in an increase of federal funds to support vocational education programs in both school districts, it was announced.

The board's newly elected vice president is Thomas Henkle and the new clerk is Valerie Lambertson.

Tenants, City Officials Clash

Negotiations between South San Francisco City officials and a newly formed tenants union concerned that residents may be forced by the city to move came to an amicable conclusion April 1 — but not before it had erupted into an angry shouting match.

The new group, SSF Public Safety Complex Involuntary Tenants Union was organized last week. Headed by Dr. Phil Montesano, it is composed of residents of an apartment house at 946 Grand Ave. It is one of two apartment houses acquired by the city for the site of a fire-police complex, but which now will be sold by the city.

The other apartment houses and homes on the site will be razed or moved.

Montesano complained that for five months, he had been frustrated in his attempts to get information about the future of the building, or to get complaints regarding building maintenance taken care of.

Montesano complained that those residing in apartments which are being demolished are receiving relocation aid, while tenants in his building may be forced to move because of higher rents and noise generated by the nearby firehouse, and are receiving no relocation aid.

He asked for specific information on:

— Whether the city will sell or continue to own the apartment houses.

— If the city will provide rent reimbursements if it sells the building and the new owners raise the rent.

—If the city will sound-proof and insulate the two buildings before they are sold.

— If a long list of maintenance problems will be rectified.

Montesano told city officials he had failed in all attempts to see anyone in authority who would listen to the problems of tenants. At Tuesday's meeting, however, Mayor Richard Bataglia, City Manager Ed Alario, Finance Director Stan Bara, Public Services Director Frank Addiego, Park and Recreation Director Dick Milkovich, and Police Chief Jim Datzman, were present to hear complaints.

Bara told Montesano the city could not pay relocation costs of those not being directly evicted, nor could it provide rent reimbursements. To do so would constitute a "gift of public funds," he said.

Alario and Battaglia told him and other tenant union officials that the two buildings would be sold. City officials hope to obtain $200,000 from the sale.

The two men assured the union that no rents would be increased by the city — although they could make no guarantee on the part of the future owner of the property. The reason that some tenants now are paying higher rents than others, Alario said, is because the city found that rents charged were below normal for some units — and so new tenants were charged "prevailing rents."

Datzman assured the tenants that the new safety complex would be the most secure portion of the complex and said he expected that care would be taken that sirens would not be sounded until the equipment is away from the complex, if it is possible.

The shouting match started when Montesano accused the city of putting up the building against the people's will.

"Now don't get on that kick," Alario said. "63.4 per cent voted for it."

Montesano said that it was a low voter turnout.

When the meeting calmed down, Alario announced that zoning administrator Bill Costanzo henceforth will be responsible for channeling all complaints of tenants on the two buildings.

"If they aren't taken care of it will be his head which will roll," Alario said.

He ordered all normal maintenance to be taken care of. As for the complaints that broken light bulbs were not replaced he asked that packages of light bulbs be made available to Montesano.

A private management firm that had been handling the building maintenance in the past was no longer in the picture, Alario said.

Council Sets Hearing on Beer, Wine Permit

The South San Francisco City Council decided Wednesday night to hear arguments at its April 16 meeting over whether the Xtra Oil Co should be allowed to sell beer and wine at its service station on Hickey Boulevard near El Camino Real.

The issue brought protests from residents throughout South San Francisco, and from some local churches, when the permit request was before the planning commission. The commission had denied Edward T. Simas the use permit to operate a convenience grocery store at the station, and Simas appealed the denial to the City Council.

The public hearing had been scheduled for April 2. However, Simas' attorney, Ted Frame, asked for a two-week continuance. Simas' architect had discussed with the planning department some changes in the site plan, and Frame said he wanted to give the city staff time to review the new plans.

Councilmen had on their desk a stack of letters protesting the permit, as well as a recommendation for denial from Frank J. Addiego, director of public services. Addiego wrote that there was inadequate space on the property for proper parking and access routes for cars for both the service station and a convenience store. He also wrote that a condition of the original approval of the station 19 years ago had been a "non-traversable" barrier around the property to prevent access to the motel at the rear. Addiego said the barrier has been removed.

The council also adopted a resolution to advertise for a company to operate, maintain and repair the five buses which the city will soon be receiving for a city transit system.

City Manager Ed Alario said he expects the first bus to be delivered in May, and to inaugurate service July 4.

A proposal to increase sewer service charges from $27 to $33.75 a year for single family homes was held over for consideration at an adjourned meeting Tuesday, although the ordinance for the increase was introduced and approved on its first reading. Industries' rates would be increased according to the composition of their sewage. Purpose of the increase is to finance the total expense of operating the sewer plant. Proposed rates will produce a 37 per cent increase in revenues, according to a report by sanitary engineers, Jenke — Adamson.

A recommendation to condemn an old home across the street from City Hall, at 427 Grand Ave., for a parking lot mall, was also held over for the next regular meeting. Councilman Terry Mirri expressed concern that the proposal was too tenuous, since it was not yet certain that the Parking Places District would be able to acquire the lots on Baden Avenue for the parking lot.

The home had been appraised at $29,000, but Alario admitted that the court may decide on a different price. Owner Giavanni B. Carazzone has refused to sell his property, Addiego reported.

Mirri asked that financial information on the district be provided at the next meeting.

The council adopted a resolution which will clear the way for the J. H. Snyder Co. to build a stub joining Gellert Boulevard with King Drive. The one-block street would serve West Park Unit 3E, and provide access to Rowntree Way.

County Salary Levels Hiked

The salary of County Manager M. D. Tarshes was increased to $49,260 a year April 1 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Both Tarshes and County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett, whose annual salary was hiked to $46,692, received $2,300-a-year increases, about five per cent, while 134 other management, mid-management and confidential county employes not included in representation units were awarded 9 per cent increases.

Three other county officials are in the above $40,000-a-year category as a result of the salary increases.

They are Dr. Howard Gurevitz, assistant to Dr. Pickett; Dr. John S. Visher, program chief for the Mental Health Services Division of the Department of Health and Welfare, and Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson, all of whom will receive salaries of $41,412 annually.

The increases are in line with what county employe organizations are receiving this year in meet-and-confer sessions with county negotiators. The increases are retroactive to Jan. 1.

Included in the salary adjustment was approval by the board of a recommendation by Tarshes that vacation allowance for the group be equated with that of most other employes. After 15 years of service, vacation time will be increased from 12 hours to 13.33 hours a month.

The salary hikes for elected officials are flat increases, while the salaries for non-elected officials are on a scale based on time in position.

The new salaries for elected officials are:

Assessor Jack Estes, $36,048; Controller E. J. McGuire Jr., $35,040; Coroner-Public Administrator Paul B. Jensen, $28,560; Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church, $33,132; Sorenson, $41,412; Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr., $36,048; Tax Collector-Treasurer Ross Conti, $33,132.

The new top salaries for selected non-elective administrative officials are:

Director of Building Construction and General Services, Henry P. Tarratt; Engineer S. H. Cantwell Jr., Director of the Health Division, Department of Health and Welfare Dr. James Bodie, all $39,192.

Superintendent of Social Services, Department of Health and Welfare, Robert D. Rippeto, $36,048; Asst. County Manager Earl Goodwin, and Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. L. H. Summey, both $35,592; Chief Probation Officer Loren Beckley, $35,040; Planning Director Donald Woolfe, Director of Parks and Recreation John T. Brook Jr., both $32,052.

Asst. Sheriff Eugene Stewart and Macdonald U. Craik, $29,952; Librarian James W. Buckley, $28,560.

Crime, Accidents Decline in Pacifica

Crime and traffic accidents were down slightly in Pacifica last year, and the percentage of crimes cleared by arrest rose significantly, according to the police department annual report for 1974. Rate of major crimes per 100,000 persons in Pacifica declined from 3,305 in 1973 to 3,252 in 1974.

For specific crimes: Murder rose from 5 to 7.5 per 100,000 persons; robbery rose from 42.5 to 52.5; rape fell from 17.5 to 15.0; assaults rose from 270.0 to 302.5; residential burglary rose from 837.5 to 847.5; commercial burglary fell from 212.5 to 195.0; auto burglary fell from 290.0 to 280.0; auto theft fell from 310.0 to 270.0; theft over $50 remained the same, 647.5, and theft under $50 fell from 672.5 to 650.0.

Bay area rates for 1973, in comparison, were: murder, 10.9; robbery, 353; Burglary, 2,205; auto theft, 746, and larceny, 3,643.

Police Chief Mel Nelson emphasized these rates are on reported crimes only. A survey taken by his department in 1974 showed that of those who said they were crime victims in 1973, only about a third reported the crimes to police. Nelson said some indicated they did not think the crimes were important enough to report, some said they believed police could not help them and a few answered they did not trust police or that police had better things to do.

Of 1,307 major crimes reported in 1974, 29.8 per cent were cleared by arrest, compared to 22.4 per cent in 1973. Chief Nelson attributes this improvement to reorganization of the Criminal Investigation Department. The police department is organized into six watches and with six platoons. Each platoon is responsible for investigating specific crimes.

All six rape cases, two-thirds of the murders, half the assault cases and almost half of the auto thetts were closed by arrest last year. Other rates were: robbery, 38 per cent cleared; burglary, 26.5 per cent and thefts, 23.1 per cent.

Chief Nelson reported an alarming increase in child arrests in 1974.

"We must now again evaluate our juvenile delinquency control programs and readjust our methods and programs after determining causation," he wrote in the annual report.

Nelson also reported response to emergency calls increased last year from three to four minutes, while routine calls increased from 19 to 24 minutes. Nelson attributes this change to increased population and increased citizen service requests.

Total number of injuries due to automobile accidents declined from 234 in 1973 to [illegible] in 1974. There were four fatalities in each of the last three years.

Nelson noted that the department's 37 sworn officers reflect a ratio of .92 officers per 1,000 persons; the national average is 2.1, and the state average is 1.6. He said he has been trying to offset the lower ratio by innovation and use of a series of special programs.

Every hold of the force has attended college; 13 officers told bachelor degrees and the chief holds a master's degree. One officer is in the fourth year of law school. In addition, four officers have had military police experience, while others have served on the Berkeley and Los Angeles police departments, and the Tuolumne County sheriff's office.

Police officers strive to obtain an Associate of Arts degree after five years of service and a BA or BS degree within 10 years of service, Nelson said.

Pacifica Housing Grant Request Turned Down

An application for a $414,968 Housing and Community Development Act grant has been turned down, Pacifica City Manager Donald G. Weidner said Thursday.

Weidner said James H. Price, area director of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, wrote the city that HUD did not have enough money to grant cities with population under 59,000.

"This reason contrasts sharply with statements from the San Francisco HUD office in September, 1974, that there was a balance of $1.4 million available for cities in the Bay Area for discretionary funds," Weidner said.

HUD's disapproval, Weidner said, comes as a "shock and great disappointment to many groups and citizens in Pacifica who were led to believe that our community was not only eligible, but had a good chance to receive funding for its social and neighborhood upgrading programs."

The application had been approved by the City Council following an exhaustive series of public meetings at which various community groups had expressed their needs.

The city turned down an offer from the county of $127,000 — as part of a county program — in order to apply for larger grant. The city can still, however, participate with the county for 1976 — "if it decides that it is worth doing so," Weidner said.

If received the grant would have paid for a city census, a housing inspector, rehabilitation specialist, social services specialist, citizen participation coordinator and at least one secretary. The grant also would have paid for: tree planting, $20,000; senior citizens facility, $34,000; child care facilities, $50,000, and public walkway contruction, $20,000.

"It is particularly disappointing to have the application disapproved because of lack of funds," Weidner said. "This is particularly true in light of the great publicity and fanfare which Congress, the President and HUD produced when announcing funds were available for cities such as Pacifica under the Housing and Community Development Act Program.

It is another clear example of the Federal Government misleading the American people and city governments by promising too much and turning their pockets inside out when it is time to deliver."

County Supervisors

Regional Agency Bill Is Opposed

Proposed state legislation to create a regional government body of 50 elected officials was opposed in its present form April 1 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The legislation, Assembly Bill 625, is the latest effort of Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, with some assistance by Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, to formulate and execute a Bay Area Regional Plan by 1980.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. urged opposition to the plan as it now exists, claiming it would permit regional government to veto city and county activities which conflict with a regional plan and would provide for a full-time, separately elected chief executive who would have the authority to veto the action of the agency and could be overriden only by a two-thirds vote. The executive, additionally, would have the authority to initiate regional legislation on his own.

County Manager M.D. Tarshes said that the bill as it is presently written provides the "potential for interference with local planning responsibility" because it provides the mechanics for dealing with specific local plans.

Supervisor Jean Fassler, expressing concern about the loss of control of local government to deal with its own problems, said, nevertheless, consideration should be given to amendments which would provide the agency with cease-and-desist powers in specific areas such as water and air pollution.

Supervisor John M. Ward said the importance of the bill required public input and that he felt the board should not take a position without further study.

Supervisor William H. Royer stated that he had "no qualms" about opposing the bill in its present form.

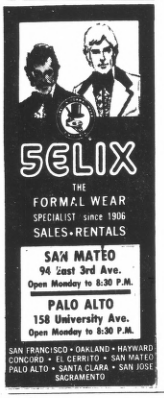
"If it will be easier to get amendments, I would vote opposition," he said.

Bacciocco noted the bill states that cities and counties must "harmonize their needs, goals and plans" with a regional plan or be barred from working the will of the citizens they represent by the exercise of the agency's veto power.

"Within this framework," he said, "it is not too far fetched to imagine the San Mateo County Transit District choosing to update the S.P. commuter service and then being coerced into either accepting BART or subsidizing the losses of neighboring counties because our transit plan did not 'harmonize' with an edict from our regional benefactors.

"Supporters of the Knox Bill will say this result is not the intent, but the power exists, and good government limits power to prevent its abuse."

The board concurred with Chairman James V. Fitzgerald that the bill in its present form is "unacceptable" and voted its opposition unanimously.



County Transit Development Project Coming to an End

The days of the San Mateo County Transit Development Project appear to be numbered.

Friday, the project held its 36th meeting in Redwood City — a brief get-together of five Board of Control members — to hear addendums to the transit study report compiled in previous meetings and to pay a few bills.

County Engineer Sid Cantwell indicated he expected the Board to participate in at least two more meetings.

There is a mere $980 left in the operational budget of the Transit Development Project, enough to see it through to completion of its assigned task, Cantwell noted.

That task was to come up with a feasability study of rapid and local bus transit on the Peninsula.

It was understood results of the Project Board and staff will be handed over to the newly formed San Mateo County Transit District upon acceptance by the Urban Mass Transit Authority (UMPTA).

This UMPTA approval is expected within the next month, it was explained.

The addendum report, submitted by Stanley Kawaguchi, of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade & Douglas, included relocation of the Redwood City terminus station (if the line between Daly City and the Southern Peninsula terminates in Redwood City) to a point south of Jefferson Avenue.

Kawaguchi said this was necessary because if ever the Redwood City station became a terminus the traffic mess would be worse than that in Daly City.

A decision on where the line is to terminate must first be made before all the questions can be answered, Kawaguchi and Cantwell said.

A LITTLE PRACTICE

Mothers of the members of the Daly City Recreation Department Civic Ballet gathered at the Westmoor Clubhouse last week to plan for a spring luncheon fashion show sponsored by the Civic Ballet. The show will be held Saturday at noon at the center, 100 Lake Merced Boulevard.

LSSD Board Will Respond To Teacher Pay Proposal

The Laguna Salada School District Board will respond to teachers' pay and fringe benefit proposal, and will offer a proposal of its own, at its April 17 meeting, Supt. James Brien said Friday.

At a hearing held Thursday night on the teachers' proposal, Marilyn Wills, president of the local League of Women Voters, presented an analysis of the teachers' proposals.

One resident said she opposed the proposal that teachers eligible for a sabbatical shall have the option of working a four-day week.

Little was said about the pay proposal, which was simply for a cost of living increase. Other teachers' requests included an early retirement plan, full medical and dental coverage, two days personal leave and classroom privacy.

Mrs. Wills, speaking on behalf of the League, complained that the teachers' proposal — which the teachers described as a "conceptual package," was too sketchy to enable the public to comment intelligently. She said the new law governing the public hearing on teacher salary increase proposal had been sponsored by the League for the purpose of involving the public in policy making, but the public could not get involved without more specific information. She asked the board, in its response to the proposal, to present more specific information.

The teachers' proposal, she said, included some far reaching areas, such as discipline policy, special counseling and sabbatical leaves, in which the public should have some say.

In its annual reorganization, the Board reelected Dale Buettgenback chairman for his second term. New trustee Rudy Tretten was elected clerk pro tem. Also elected were chairman pro tem, Lee Riewerts; clerk, Grady Hesters; and trustee representative to the County Committee, Will Frye.

Tretten will head the Legislative Committee, and Riewerts will continue as the board's representative to the Youth Service Bureau.

Serving on the ad hoc city-school district committee will continue to be Buettgenback and Frye. Hesters and Frye will serve on an ad hoc committee whose purpose is improving articulation with the Jefferson Union High School District.

The board voted to continue to meet the first and second Thursdays of the month.

Trustees awarded a series of contracts for furniture and equipment for a total of $54,000. Brien said that this constitutes a major purchase for the year. It included two new trucks, audio-visual equipment, and replacement of worn-out desks and chairs.

JUHSD Sabbatical Leave Halted

The Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees voted April 1 to discontinue the sabbatical leave program for teachers.

Ruth Boudinot, who was elected president of the board at the beginning of the meeting, and John Sloane, former board president, cast the dissenting votes.

Edward Morgan, who completed his term as district superintendent that evening, had recommended in a letter dated March 18, 1975, that a moratorium be placed on sabbatical leaves for the 1975-1976 school year.

Morgan said in his letter that sabbatical leaves for 11 teachers would cost the district at least $28,352, an amount that it could not afford.

Joseph McGrath, vice president of the American Federation of Teachers, pointed out that sabbatical leave expenses already had been included in the first draft of next year's budget. But the budget is $90,000 in the red.

In other action, the board approved a plan for a more structured class schedule at Oceana High School. The plan still includes some of the flexibility found in Oceana's present modular schedule.

Students exhibiting special aptitude in various areas will be given the opportunity to work independently outside of the classroom during one class period each day.

Joseph Conway, principal of Oceana, said it will be possible to build a resource period into a student's schedule so he or she can be given the option of using this time as a study period or to meet with a teacher.

Ernest Ribera, assistant superintendent-instruction, said that one method of programming or scheduling couldn't satisfy all students.

"I think here some alternatives are being offered," he said. "We have a concept here for more structure in scheduling but with still some flexibility."

Conway will make a progress report on the new scheduling system at a board meeting some time next month.

The board's newly elected vice president is Albert Teglia and the new clerk is Edward Solomon.

Rec Center Opener Set

A public open house to show off Burlingame's newly remodeled Recreation Center on Burlingame Avenue, is scheduled for Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Recreation Supervisor Lois Gast said a new art room, offices, reception area, lobby gallery and display cases, garden atrium, storage rooms and rest rooms have been added in the recently completed modernization.

An art show featuring well-known local painters, carvers, and potters will be one of the main attractions of the afternoon. Registrars will be on hand to sign up people for the department's 200 spring activities.

'Two From Galilee'

From all over the country reports are coming in that the guys and chicks in high school are reading "Two From Galilee" by Marjorie Holmes.

It is a gentle story of commonplace people who grow up and fall in love with little thought of the problems that beset their country. In an ordinary sort of a way a boy and a girl grow up in the same village and fall in love. They are lovable, unstrained people who enjoy the warmth of their community and their homes.

Mary is the daughter of a fond mother who tells herself, "if ever a daughter was well nigh perfect, that daughter is my own." Joseph, on the other hand, is from "the other side of town," but as industrious and intelligent as any young man in the village. Through charm and good conduct he gets what he wants most; the girl, her father's approval and her mother's love.

But, as in all good stories, Joseph and Mary are not typical people. Mary is beloved by God who climaxes Mary's bethrothal to Joseph by sending an angel to claim her. "God has always loved you, don't you remember? He has watched you grow from childhood into womanhood, and now he has a message of great importance."

And even as she waited, it happened as the angel said. "The Holy Spirit came upon her, invaded her body, and her bowels stirred and her loins melted, her heart was uplifted, her whole body became one with it — the infinite, the unknowable, the total fusion that is the bliss of God . . ."

"My God, my God!" she cried, "and the sweat ran down her limbs."

HERE LIES HER MISERY. Before the community, before Joseph, all she can do is protest her innocence of fornication and cry, "Oh God, sustain me, give me courage, let me not drag around drawing puzzled attention in my ignorance and wretchedness!"

In Mary's happiness, yet turmoil, and in Joseph's tortured reaction lies the story that has made "Two From Galilee" a book that high school students have chosen to read.

In an era that produced "Rosemary's Baby" and "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "Two From Galilee," makes the Bible story live with 20th century realism. So often Joseph and Mary are as confused and troubled as modern youth. Ms. Holmes pictures Mary as wrapped in mystery about herself, and of Joseph she writes, "His faith floated in and out of him . . . He would find himself dry- empty, drained and resigned, avoiding prayer, either formal prayer or the instinctive calling out upon something stronger than he was — something powerful and reassuring."

No wonder a Serramonte High School boy gasped as he finished reading "Two From Galilee," "I hope the girl I marry is just an ordinary woman."

'Getting to Know Us'

Library Workshop in Daly City

Dr. Kevin Starr, San Francisco city librarian, will be keynote speaker of "Getting to Know Us," Annual Northern Workshop of the Friends of the California Libraries to be hosted by the Friends of the Daly City Library on Saturday, April 12, at Serramonte High School, Daly City.

According to Mmes. Albert Teglia and Emmett Tierney, co-chairwomen of the event, members of Friends' groups and librarians from Monterey and Fresno north to the Oregon border will attend.

Starr, of San Francisco, obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of San Francisco, and received a Master of Arts degree and his Ph.D in English literature from Harvard University and later a Master of Library Science from the University of California, Berkeley. He served as assistant-associate professor of English at Harvard University before becoming the San Francisco city librarian.

His book "Americans and the California Dream," published by Oxford University Press in 1973, was acclaimed as "the best book of non-fiction in 1973" by the New York Times.

The workshop's diversity of activities will include discussion groups, exhibits, library tour, and a demonstration of Dialog, an on-line information retrieval system, with a terminal that will key into a central computer data bank at Lockheed.

Moderators of the discussion groups will be Dr. Wallace W. Hall, Belvedere, former president of Friends of the California Libraries; James Buckley, San Mateo County librarian; and Mrs. James Nall, president of the Portola Valley Friends of the Library and a member of the FCL Board of Directors. A. Richard Robertson, publicity director of KRON-TV, will present a clinic on "How to Utilize TV and Radio for Public Service." William Drake, publisher and editor of the Pacifica Tribune, is scheduled as guest speaker at the luncheon, at which time also Daly City papers, The Post and The Record, will be honored.

Assisting Mmes. Teglia and Tierney on the overall committee are Mmes. F. Lincoln Walter, James Hough and John Connolly. Sub-committees on workshop day will be staffed by members of The Friends of the Daly City Library.

Friends of Library groups, non-profit civic organizations, were founded to stimulate continuing community interest in library activities and needs and to lend support to libraries whenever possible.

'The Mousetrap' To Open Friday

Agatha Christie's classic intrigue, "The Mousetrap," is set to open Friday evening at Oddstad Park Center, 1000 block of Crespi Drive (one mile east of Pacific Coast Highway One) in Pacifica.

This play has broken all records as the longest running play on any stage.

The setting is an old English home, newly turned into a boarding house and being run by a newly married couple.

Into the boarding house come prospective roomers and strangers driven there and subsequently stranded, by a heavy snow storm. It soon becomes evident that one of them is a murderer. The continuing murders match each character against the other. The detective who arrives to investigate the case probes into the background of everyone present and brings to light many surprises in their backgrounds.

In the role of the newly married couple Giles and Mollie Ralston are Larry McInerney and Kathleen Trian. Gordon Sheridan, Berneice Olson and Warren Gabrielli are seen as Christopher Wren, Mrs. Boyle and Major Metcalf. Kathleen McIntyre and J. L. Leyva are in the roles of Miss Casewell and Mrs. Paravicini. The detective is played by Robert Struckman.

Craig Cummins is the director of "The Mousetrap," and Marj Heise is the assistant director. Curtain times are 8:30 p.m., and the remaining performances are April 12, 18, 19, 25 and 26.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Sylvia Vanessa Castillo Now Mrs. C. O. Haughton

Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D.C. and New York City are on the honeymoon itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. Caxton O. Haughton Jr., (Sylvia Vanessa Castillo), who were married last week in Daly City.

The Rev. Tom McElligot performed the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodolfo M. Castillo of Daly City, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Haughton of Newport News, Va.

A reception followed at the Holiday Inn in South San Francisco.

For her wedding, Sylvia wore an ivory A-line organza gown adorned with beaded Alencon lace. The Empire costume featured long sleeves with lace appliques, a stand-up collar and a detachable sheer train. White roses, stephanotis and baby's breath were arranged in her bouquet.

Honor attendant for her sister-in-law was Julie Castillo, who wore a pink polyester knit dress with a long sleeved velevt jacket. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums tied with burgundy ribbon.

Similar costumes and flowers were chosen by bridesmaids Ninoska Castillo and Sally Haughton, of Richmond, Va., the bridegroom's sister.

Fower girl duties were performed by Sylvia Patricia Castillo, who was dressed in a pink knit frock adorned with Alencon lace. She carried pink roses interspersed with yellow and orange spring flowers.

C. O. Haughton stood with his son as best man. The bride's brothers, Edward and Tito Castillo, shared ushering duties. Alfonso Castillo carried the rings.

The new Mrs. Haughton was graduated from Jefferson High School and City College of San Francisco. She is also the sister of Lionel and Rodolfo Castillo Jr. and Ligia Castillo.

The bridegroom earned his bachelor of science degree in engineering in 1970 from the University of Virginia. He has one other sister, Gail Cunningham of Newport News.

The newlyweds will make their first home in Daly City.

LUNCHEON PLANNING

Crittenton Services Sets Lunch, Membership Drive

North Peninsula Auxiliary of Florence Crittenton services will hold its new members luncheon April 17 in the Crown Colony Apartments clubhouse, Serramonte.

Mrs. McRobert Stewart will chair the event, and Rose Raineri and Mary Gray will be membership co-chairwomen.

Presidents Mrs. Albert Teglia notes that a membership drive is underway and new members from South San Francisco and Pacifica are welcome to join.

Primary purpose of the Crittenton program is to provide preventative crisis care and extended treatment and services, both residential and non-residential for single young women who are pregnant or have babies, and to serve all applicants whether or not they have adequate public or private funds to meet Crittenton's fees.

Florence Crittenton center at 840 and 850 Broderick St., San Francisco, houses an Infant Day Care Center, class rooms, library, 20 bedrooms as well as recreation, reception, craft and social workers' offices.

To the residential treatment center come single young women.

The objective is to assist these young persons along a course that will eventullly lead to emotional stability, independence from welfare aid, to reduce the number of neglected babies, and to prevent child abuse. The services available include medical care, counseling group thereapy, tutoring accredited schooling job preparation, and supervised recreation.

The group (auxiliary) also has patron members. These pay a slightly higher dues fee. Further information about membership may be had by calling Mms. Albert Geglia, McStewart Robert, or Rose Raineri.

Lovanne Heath

Its all aboard for Nevada tomorrow as the members of the Pacifica Fifty Plus Club sets off for another tour of Carson City. The bus has been filled for weeks now, as this has proven to be a favorite trip for many members, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, the travel chairwoman.

While this outing is well filled, there is still space available for the Fall Foliage and American Heritage tour which will be leaving on Sep. 10 and returning Oct. 17. For information about that bicentennial celebration write Mrs. Calhan, 30 Crestlake Drive in San Francisco, or contact Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg, 351 Carmel Ave. in Pacifica. The trip will cost between $1,070 and $1,310. per person, according to type of accommodation desired.

CADETTE AND SENIOR Scouts involved in the Girl Scout swim program at Jefferson High School, will have their day-or evening — of swim fun tomorrow between 7 and 9 p.m. The remaining April swimming schedule calls for Brownies to use the pool on April 17 and Juniors on April 24.

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S classic mystery, the Mousetrap is set to open on Friday night at 8:30 p.m. in the Oddstad Park Center, 1000 block on Crespi Drive in Pacifica.

This play which has been running on the London stage since it opened there in 1952, has broken all records for the longest running play on any stage.

The setting is an old English home newly turned into a boarding house by a newly wed couple. Into the boarding house come the prospective boarders and some travelers taking refuge from a savage storm. It soon becomes apparent that the company includes a murder. The tale Miss Christie weaves is spellbinding!

All performances begin at 8:30 p.m., with the show scheduled to be staged on April 12, 18, 19, 25 and 26. Tickets are available at the door.

THE FRIENDS of the California Libraries Northern Workshop will be held at Serramonte High School Saturday beginning at 8:45 a.m., according to Mrs. Verna Teglia and Mrs. Virginia Tierney, the co-chairwomen of the event. The theme of which is "Getting to Know Us."

Registration fee for the discussions and the luncheon will be $6.50 to be paid at the door Saturday morning.

A distinguished list of moderators have been announced and, in addition, a special luncheon speaker, William Drake, will be on the program.

Workshop goers with an interest in automation will be intrigued by "Dialog," an on-line information retrieval system, which will be demonstrated.

A MOTHER and Son Communion breakfast will be sponsored this Sunday morning by the Ignatius Guild of St. Ignatius College Prepatory school in San Francisco.

Mrs. Robert Enright, publicity chairwoman for the breakfast, reports that Mass will be held at 9 a.m. in Carlin Commons, with the breakfast to follow in the same location.

Tickets are available, at $4 per person in the Development office on the campus.

Father James Hanley, S.J., principal of St. Ignatius will be the main celebrant at the Mass. Father Robert Sunderland, S.J. the editorial director of ABC television in San Francisco and the commissioner of the West Coast Athletic Conference, will be the homilist. Mrs. Edward J. Wardell is the breakfast chairman.

THE MEMBERS OF PODER LATINO, the Latin orchestra which will be playing for the Spring Dance sponsored by the Holy Angels Latin Club, are hoping they can please all the dance guests, and it would seem they have an excellent chance of doing so!

Mrs. Nemer Gonzalez reports that the music of the Latin American countries varies greatly in style and rythms, but the Poder Latin members each represent a different Latin American nation and so the group is hopeful of being able to play music representative of every culture south of the boards of the United States.

Tickets for the dance are available from the chairpersons, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Alfonso, 992-4862. Tickets purchased in advance cost $3 per person. Tickets available at the door on the night of the dance, April 26, will cost $3.50.

MRS. SARAH KELECHAVA, one of Daly City's best known volunteer workers, was recently nominated as one of the 25 outstanding Catholic Women by her parish, Our Lady of Mercy.

THE DAYS HURRY PAST, according to the song, and workers on the Spring Festival committee, OLM Roundup, are beginning to feel the pressure as April slips by and May 1, 2, 3 and 4 come closer.

The genneral chairman, James McCann, has announced a sizable corps of men from the Westlake Catholic Men have volunteered to man booths during the four days the festival will be in full swing.

Among those serving will be Frank Lawson and Dino Donati in the gaming concession; Bill Miller and Lawrence Ahern will serve at the pan table; Bob Curran, John Hughes and Bill Notley will be in charge of the ham and bacon booth, and Frank Mullen will hand the major investments; Mike Millane and Rick Rickert are the floor chairmen.

Tending to the gold fish will be Frank Byrne and Andrew Skirra. The dispersement of spirits will fall to Charles Boerio and Dick Galliani. Charles Santuccio and Bob Newman are in the grocery business for the duration of the festival and Rubin Fuhrman and Bill Mahoney will tend the money tree. In charge of sports will be Walt Henry, Jerry Pult and Noel Mertens. Dick Mudge and Frank McCann will supervise the horse racing, and A. J. Phillips will be working on the arrangements for the dinner to be held on Saturday.

Decorations for the festival will be provided by Ed Cueva and Al Modena.

HOME FROM A SPRING HOLIDAY in the Hawaiian Islands are Mr. and Mrs. John Madrosen of Westlake. The Madrosens, who were gone one week, were accompanied by their grandchildren, Ronnie and Debbie of Oregon.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE, but you must hurry, hurry, hurry if you want to make reservations for this week's meeting of the Daly City Garden Club.

Mrs. Millie Dunow, the second vice president and the program chairman has secured San Mateo County Supervisor John Ward to be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting. Ward will speak on San Mateo Counties Environmental Concerns including the fate of San Bruno Mountains.

No-host cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the Ranch Inn with dinner to begin at 7:30 p.m. Call Mrs. Dunow, 756-2419 immediately for reservations to this very important gathering.

Hungarian-Born Pianist To Play at Periwinkle

Pianist Gizi Szanto will play the music of Bach, Mozart, Schubert and Schumann April 13 at 3 p.m. at Periwinkle Gallery, 1227 Danmann in Pacifica.

Hungarian-born Gizi Szanto has concertized in Europe and Canada as well as the United States. Shortly after her arrival in this country, she formed a two-piano team with June Wells. The duo pianists were acclaimed widely in Europe and the United States and capped their success with concerts at Town Hall, New York City.

As a scholarship student, Miss Szanto studied with the French master Isidor Philipp at the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau, France, from which she received her teacher's diploma as well as an artist's diploma with highest honors.

At the personal invitation of Mrs. Edward MacDowell, Gizi Szanto spent a summer composing at the MacDowell Colony. A close friendship developed between Mrs. MacDowell and Miss Szanto which lasted until the former's death. Among Miss Szanto's most highly regarded possessions was an original MacDowell manuscript given her by his widow. In 1962 she donated it to the Detroit Public Library.

Appearances as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, numerous other symphonic groups, as well as recitals keep Miss Szanto constantly before the public. She has given generously of her time and artistry to worthy causes such as several recitals benefitting the MacDowell Colony, Peterborough, N.H., the Joseph E. Maddy Interlochen Memorial Fund, the Sigma Alpha Iota Scholarship Fund, the Oakland Symphony Orchestra and the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society.

Miss Szanto has been honored by the City of Salzburgh with the Max Reinhardt Medal for her contribution in furthering the music of Mozart.

While residing in Michigan, Miss Szanto's teaching affiliations include the Detroit Conservatory of Music as head of the piano department. At the same time she was on the cooperative faculty of Wayne State University. Miss Szanto also has taugh; at the Detroit Institute of Musical Art and the Detroit Community Music School. The summer of 1974 marked her eighth consecutive season at Interlochen, Michigan. There, she is on the faculty of the National Music Camp and the summer faculty of the University of Michigan. Presently she resides in Oakland where she teaches and concertizes.

Gizi Szanto is a National Honorary Member of the Sigma Alpha Iota International professional music fraternity for women.

A donation of $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students will be requested.

Good morning, good cooks.

While rummaging through the utility (that's a polite word for junk) drawer in the kitchen recently, I ran across a collection of fascinating items. Enough rubber bands to retread a tire, coupons for cash refunds totaling $37 (all expired, alas), dry ball point pens, pencil stubs, prizes from cereal boxes and many, many articles on how to lose weight. Interestingly the weight loss items were in an envelope with some delicious sounding recipes. Talk about being at cross purposes!

I managed to throw away a little of the junk, but kept and tested some of the recipes. This banana wheat bread is easy to make, tastes delicious and freezes nicely for future treats.

BANANA-WHEAT QUICK BREAD

1¼ cups all-purpose flour
½ cup whole wheat flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups mashed bananas
¼ cup butter, softened
2 tablespoons orange juice
¼ teaspoon lemon juice (if desired)
1 egg
¼ to ½ cup raisins

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour bottom of 9x5-inch loaf pan.

In large mixing bowl combine the one and one-fourth cups flour, one-half cup whole wheat flour, one cup sugar, one teaspoon each soda and salt, one and one-half cups mashed bananas, one-fourth cup butter, two tablespoons orange juice, one-fourth teaspoon lemon juice, an egg and one-half cup raisins. Blend well and beat at medium speed for three minutes.

Pour into prepared pan and bake in 350-degree oven 60 to 70 minutes. Cool in pan for 10 minutes. Turn out on rack and cool overnight before slicing.

APRICOT BREAD

1 cup dried apricots (about one-half of a 12-oz. package)
age)
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg
¼ cup water
½ cup orange juice
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts

Soak the one cup dried apricots in water for 30 minutes, drain and cut into small strips.

Cream the two tablespoons butter and one cup sugar. Add the egg, fourth cup water, half cup orange juice and mix thoroughly.

Sift together the two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, fourth teaspoon soda and one teaspoon salt. Add to the creamed mixture. Stir in the apricot strips and one-half cup chopped nuts.

Pour into greased 9x5x3 loaf pan. Let set for 20 minutes before baking. Bake at 350 degrees for about one hour.

Cool in pan for 10 minutes, turn out on rock and cool completely before slicing.

Scavengers Hit With Dumping Fee Increase

George Stagnaro, manager of the South San Francisco Scavenger Co., confirmed reports that his firm had been hit by a sudden 77 cents a ton increase in dumping fees.

The firm uses the Marsh Road Sanitary Landfill site, owned by the City of Menlo Park and operated by the San Mateo Disposal Co. Serving the cities of Millbrae, South San Francisco and Brisbane and dumping 300 tons of garbage a day at the Menlo Park site, the SSF Scavenger Co. will pay more than $230 a day extra, a 20 per cent increase, starting July 1, it was learned.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said he would ask county staff to investigate the sharp increase to see if it is justified.

Menlo Park is scheduled to convert the dump to a city park.

Stagnaro said that he had no immediate plans for a request for new rate increases based on the higher dumping fees.

"WE'll just have to sweat it out," he said.

However, the increase does add urgency to the rate increase that already is pending before the Millbrae City Council. A public hearing on renewal of the three-year franchise was to be held Tuesday night.

Stagnaro said he would study the possibility of increasing garbage rates in South San Francisco. He said when the company was granted its last rate increase he had taken into account possible dumping fee increases. However, he said he did not anticipate they would come so fast and by so much.

Stagnaro said he would not fight the increase, although his contract with the dump does have an arbitration clause, he said.

"We have no alternative," he said. "What dump can I go to?"

Curt Luck, associate city engeineer of Menlo Park, said the increase in dumping fees were necessitated by installing additional pollution controls demanded by the Water Quality Control Board, increased cost of operation, and the cost of land acquisition.

Gregorio Hits Booze Advertising

San Mateo County Sen. Arlen Gregorio is continuing to center his attention on the problems of alcoholism in various bills and amendments going through the legislature.

At the same time he blames the liquor industry for "glamorizing" drinking through advertising, and suggests the money so spent be used instead to set up treatment centers for alcoholics and other remedial measures to prevent alcoholism.

Gregorio recently spoke on the subject at an alcoholism seminar conducted at San Jose State University. He charged "The state's liquor industry and the state legislators are not dealing honestly with the number of deaths and financial losses caused by alcoholism."

DC Man Arrested

A 25 year old Daly City man was arrested on a narcotics charge Friday night after a raid by Daly City police, San Mateo County narcotics officers and U.S. Postal inspectors.

Julio G. Sereni of 97 Citrus Ave., was booked on a charge of possessing marijuana for sale, according to a Daly City Police Department spokesman.

First Aid Course Set

An advanced first aid course for nurses will be held by the Red Cross at its Burlingame office,1449 Bellevue Ave., from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, April 8-May 15.

The course includes advanced emergency care and rescue skills needed by nurses who wish to serve in time of disaster, and those who are involved in industry. Instrucion is free, by volunteer instructor Joe Aliamus of Burlingame.

GIRL SCOUTING

Brownie leaders of Daly City will meet Thursday evening, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Nancy Walters, 278 Del Prado in Daly City, with thir new consultants. Agenda is scheduled to include Brownie "Helpful Hints" for spring meetings.

Liaisons, organizers and other service team personnel are invited to attend a recruitment for volunteers meeting April 15 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Orange Avenue Library in South San Francisco. Registration is through Janice Pettey in the Brisbane office.

Tami Stoeppelworth, of troop 476, designed the winning patch for the Daly City Girl Scout Association, on a theme of "Gateway to the Peninsula," according to Association Chairwoman Margaret Connolly. Information on patch ordering, with all profits going to Daly City Wider Opportunity Scouts, is available from Mrs. Connolly.

Day, Sierra and Council resident camp folders are now available from Daly City Girl Scout troop leaders and from Camping Committee personnel according to Camping Coordinator Mary Ann Dale.

Patrol meetings throughout the month of April for Cadette troop No. 1636 led by Mrs. Stanley Rushton, will include Chinese cooking, fabrication of "hark pots, and rooting plant cuttings.

Mrs. Georgia Law will supervise the cooking; troop leader Mrs. Rushton will tend the craft project, and Mary Judy Constantinos will teach the gardening project.

Girls meeting in the different homes throughout the month include April Brooks, Carleen Dittmore, Kim Erler, Jeanne Friend, Nanette Futrell, Lianne Knox, Adrienne Konstan, Diana Law, Shelley Morris, Linda Plicheik, Jeannette Sanchez, Diane Sapienza, Sandy Starck, Joyce Thompson, Susan Yoshioka, Linda Garcia, and Trudy Constantinos.

SUPER PATROL

The Eagle Patrol of Troop 83, along with patrols from other troops, met recently to compete in events of Scouting Skills. The fete was held on the stage of the Serra Theatre on Junipero Serra Blvd. in Daly City. Troop 83 took first place in all events and was named "NO. 1" in Serra District of the San Francisco Bay Area Council. Shown with their trophies are (front row, from left) Ken Baker, Scott Van Tassell, John Gunning; (middle row) Brian Gunning, Jasbir Singh, Ken Nolan; (back row) Scoutmaster Hank Hansel, Lars Anderson, and Resham Singh.

SM County Women Form

Group for 'Responsible Environment'

More than 60 Peninsula women met April 3 to organize a new citizen's action group called AWARE, or Active Women Advancing Responsible Environment.

Violet Gotelli, one of the principal organizers of the group explained its goals, saying, "We think that groups calling themselves environmentalists are misusing their power as pressure groups. The result has been action by government that has been harmful rather than beneficial to our total environment." AWARE's principle will be to support programs and activities that will have beneficial effects on the economy of San Mateo County while at the same time providing maximum protection and appropriate use of the natural environment.

"San Mateo, for example, presently has an average 40 per cent unemployment rate in the construction trades and skyrocketing economic problems in many other areas," Mrs. Gotelli said.

"Continued irresponsible actions by special interest groups can ultimately strangle our local economy, and have disastrous results for our total way of life.

"One excellent example is the irresponsible shutting down of the San Francisco Airport expansion program by Friends of the Earth," she said. "Parking at the airport is inadequate to handle even present needs, still this group was able to stop construction of badly-needed additional parking.

"This means the parking problem isn't getting solved. It means construction workers lose their jobs. And on top of that, the public has to pay additional tax dollars for the delays in completion. It just doesn't make sense."

Mrs. Gotelli added, "We don't think that important and obviously-needed projects should be stopped or delayed at the whim of a small number of vociferous special interest groups." She asked not to be misunderstood. "We support the need for good planning," she said. "We intend for our group to be a moderate voice in matters concerning land use.

"Our major concern will be that the land in San Mateo County, and in fact all over the State, be used carefully, and in the best interests of all taxpayers," she said.

AWARE has established temporary offices at 433 Airport Blvd., Suite 400, Burlingame. Women interested in learning more about the organization and its programs should call (415) 345-3577.

Mori's Point Building Fight Pledged

Three environmentalists pledged a fight to halt construction of 40 homes on picturesque Mori's Point, at the conclusion of a meeting of the Hillside Review Board in Pacifica April 1.

The homes, according to developer Alan Smith of Hollister, would sell for between $125,000 and $150,000.

Sounding the call to battle was Marilyn Springer, of the Fairway Park Homeowners Association, representing homeowners who live immediately adjacent to the proposed development.

"I don't disagree with the design of the development," she said. "I disagree with the idea of homes on Mori's Point."

She said the proposed Coastal Plan of the Coastal Conservation Commission refers "again and again" to Mori's Point and to Pacifica's rocky headlands as a valuable coastal resource. She said birds and other wildlife in the area would be threatened.

She pledged to oppose the project when it goes before the Coastal Commission, the City Planning Commission and the City Council. If necessary, she said, the group would take the project to a referendum election — just as it did the Rockaway Highlands project stopped at the polls last year.

Frank Cambellin, representing Mori's Point Corp., which is selling the 91½-acre site to Smith for $400,000, said, "We have been paying taxes on this land for 16 years."

Board member May Gee proposed determining "how much the city can afford to buy." She said, "If we are not going to let them use their property we should relieve them of the burden of paying their taxes."

The land was once the site of the well-known Mori's Point Inn, which burned down several years ago. It is adjacent to the proposed civic center site.

Smith promised that the homes would be aesthetically pleasing and would blend into the hillside. The land is stable, he said, and homes would not wash into the sea.

At the entrance to the development, there would be a guard house, a special parking lot of homeowners' trailers and boats, and an 18-space parking lot for the general public. A 10-foot wide path would be donated to the city to provide access to the beach.

The board members seemed generally agreeable to the development, although there was a complaint that many of the homes were attached.

City Planner Jim Miller said attached homes would eliminate unusable corridors between homes and would improve other spacing and land use. Smith, however, said he might not attach the homes if board members preferred.

The project next will go to the Planning Commission. Smith has not made formal application.

In other action, C. A. Trifeletti appeared on behalf of Von Jac Developers to discuss development of a site south of Fassler Drive, next to Crespi School. However, according to Miller, he had no plans for the site.

ORDINANCE NO. 82

AN ORDINANCE PRESCRIBING RATES AND CHARGES FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL SERVICE AND PROVIDING PROCEDURES AND PENALTIES FOR ITS ENFORCEMENT
BAYSHORE SANITARY DISTRICT
SEWER SERVICE CHARGE ORDINANCE

The Board of Directors of the Bayshore Sanitary District, San Mateo County, California, does ordain as follows:

ARTICLE I GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. Short Title. This ordinance may be cited as "Bayshore Sanitary District Sewer Service Charge Ordinance".

2. Definitions. Unless the context otherwise indicates, terms used herein have the following meanings:

(a) "District" means the Bayshore Sanitary District.

(b) "Board" is the Board of Directors of said District.

(c) "Sewer service charges" mean fees, tolls, rates, rentals or other charges for services and facilities furnished by District in connection with its sanitation or sewerage system.

(d) "Premise" means any house, habitation or other structure requiring sewage disposal services.

(e) "Person" is any human being, firm, company, partnership, association, and private, public and municipal corporation, the United States of America, the State of California, districts and all political subdivisions, governmental agencies and mandatories thereof.

(f) "Outside sewer" means any private sewer beyond the boundaries of District, other than those connected pursuant to agreement between the District and another public corporation or municipal corporation.

(g) "Report" means the report referred to in Section 5473 of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California.

3. Alternate Procedure. The Board hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more of the sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional. If any provision of this ordinance or application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the ordinance or the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

5. Publication. Upon adoption this ordinance shall be entered in the minutes of the Board, and shall be published once in the Post, a weekly newspaper of general circulation, within fifteen (15) days following its passage and adoption, and shall take effect and be in force upon the conclusion of the hearing held pursuant to Section 5473 of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California.

ARTICLE II SEWER SERVICE CHARGES

10. Rate Schedule. Sewer service charges are hereby prescribed for all premises connected to the sanitation or sewerage system of District. The rates shall be as follows:

	TYPE OF DISCHARGE	ANNUAL CHARGES
a	Minimum rate for any premises	$ 24.00
b	Each single family dwelling unit	24.00
c	Each dwelling unit in a multiple dwelling structure	24.00
d	Mobile home	24.00
e	Premises of commercial owners: (minimum rate $24.00):
1	Hotel, rooming house, motel or travel trailer	24.00

9	Retail Store	24.00
10	Small commercial establishment	24.00
11	Beauty parlor, barber shop	24.00
12	Car Wash	24.00
13	Beer or on-sale beer establishment	24.00
14	Theater	24.00
15	Any other premises of a commercial owner	24.00

In addition to the previously stated charges, the following schedule of rates shall apply to premises of a commercial owner:

1	For water consumption between 1,000 cubic feet and 1,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	$12.00
2	For water consumption between 1,501 cubic feet and 2,000 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	24.00
3	For water consumption between 2,001 cubic feet and 2,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	36.00
4	For water consumption of more than 2,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be $36.00 plus $12.00 for each additional 500 cubic feet of water consumption per month

f Premises of any institutional owner: (minimum rate $ 24.00):

1	School	24.00
2	Hospital	24.00
3	Rest Home	24.00
4	Church	24.00
5	Any other premises of an institutional owner	24.00

In addition to the previously stated institutional charges, the following will also apply to those premises of an institutional owner:

1	For water consumption between 1,000 cubic feet and 1,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	12.00
2	For water consumption between 1,501 cubic feet and 2,000 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	24.00
3	For water consumption between 2,001 cubic feet and 2,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be	36.00
4	For water consumption of more than 2,500 cubic feet per month, the additional charge shall be $36.00 plus $12.00 for each additional 500 cubic feet of water consumption per month

All additional charges of commercial and institutional owners established in Subsection e and herein are based on a proportion of average water consumption in comparison with that of a single family dwelling. All such charges shall be calculated from the previous year's consumption data where available, and from estimates based on comparable uses for new premises.

ARTICLE III COLLECTION

15. Election to Collect on Tax Roll. The District hereby elects, pursuant to Section 5473 of the Health and Safety Code, to have the above charges collected on the tax roll of San Mateo County in the manner provided by law and this ordinance.

16. Report. A written report shall be prepared and filed with the Secretary, which shall contain a description of each parcel of real property located within or outside of District upon which is situate a premise receiving such services and facilities and the amount of the charge for each parcel for said year, computed in conformity with the charges prescribed by this ordinance.

17. Hearing on Report. Thursday, the 17th day of June, 1975, at the hour of 7:00 o'clock P.M., at the regular meeting place of said Board, Meeting Room, 36 Industrial Way, Brisbane, California, are hereby fixed as the time and place for hearing on said report filed with the Secretary of this District, and the Secretary shall publish notice of said hearing and of the filing of said report once a week for two successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing, in The Record, a weekly newspaper of general circulation, and shall cause to be mailed notice of the filing of said report and the time and place of hearing thereon to each person to whom any parcel of real property described in said report is assessed in the last equalized assessment roll available, at the address shown on said roll or as known to the Secretary.

18. Final Determination of Charges. Upon the conclusion of the hearing on the report, the Board will adopt, revise, change, reduce or modify any charge or overrule any or all objections and shall make its determination upon each charge as described in said report, which determination shall be final.

19. Filing a Report with County Controller. On or before the 10th day of August, of each year, following the final determination of the Board, the Secretary shall file with the County Controller of San Mateo County a copy of said report with a statement endorsed thereon over his signature that it has been finally adopted by the Board of the District, and the County Controller shall enter the amounts of the charges against the respective lots or parcels of land as they appear on the current assessment roll.

20. Lien. The amount of the charges shall constitute a lien against the lot or parcel of land against which the charge has been imposed as of noon on the first Monday of March in the year in which said sewer service charges are fixed. The Tax Collector of the County of San Mateo shall include the amount of the charges on bills for taxes levied against the respective lots and parcels of land.

21. Tax Bill. Thereafter, the amount of the charges shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner and by the same persons as, together with and not separately from, the general taxes for the District, and shall be delinquent at the same time and thereafter be subject to the same penalties for delinquency.

22. Collection. All laws applicable to the levy, collection and enforcement of general taxes of the District, including, but not limited to, those pertaining to the matters of delinquency, correction, cancellation, refund and redemption, are applicable to such charges.

23. Compensation of County. The tax collector may, in his discretion, issue separate bills for such charges and separate receipts for collection on account of such charges. The county shall be compensated for services rendered in connection with the levy, collection and enforcement of such charges for the District in an amount to be fixed by agreement between the Board of Supervisors and the Board of Directors of the District. The compensation shall not exceed one percent of all money received. The compensation shall be paid into the county salary fund.

24. Use of Revenues. Revenues derived under this ordinance shall be used only for the acquisition, construction or reconstruction, maintenance and operation of sanitation or sewerage facilities of the District and to repay principal and interest on bonds issued for the construction of such sanitary or sewerage facilities and to repay federal or state loans or advances made to the District for the construction or reconstruction of sanitary or sewerage facilities, provided, however, that such revenue shall not be used for the acquisition or construction of new local street sewers or laterals, as distinguished from main trunk, interceptor and outfall sewers.

ARTICLE IV ENFORCEMENT

30. The provisions of Article VII of Ordinance No. 30 adopted on July 27, 1968, as amended, shall be applicable as a means of enforcement of the provisions hereof.

ARTICLE V REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES

35. This ordinance is an amendment to and readoption of Ordinance No. 30 and of all ordinances and parts of ordinances amendatory thereto, and, as such, it does hereby repeal all ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith.

Serra PTA To Present Awards

The general meeting of the Junipero Serra School PTA will be April 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-use room.

The PTA will honor Founder's Day that evening. Founder's Day commemorates the organization of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. An annual observance has been a part of the parent-teacher program since 1910. Founder's Day gives tribute to the people who serve youth.

The Serra PTA for this year has made it possible, in part, for the children of Junipero Serra to take field trips, buy athletic equipment, drapes and sole run and operate the library.

Also tomorrow, the "Honorary Service Award" will be presented. Purpose of the award is to give special recognition to an individual who has given outstanding service to children and youth.

Mrs. Kee and Mrs. Byrnes' fifth grade classes have been working on a special ceremony to be presented at the meeting. They will present a pin to the person or persons of the community who have been chosen to receive the service award.

FLIGHT CLASS

Navy Ensign Ronald C. Bohard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bohard of 1106 Oakwood Drive, Millbrae, reported for flight training at the Whiting Field Naval Air Station, Milton, Fla.

The training includes radio navigation, acrobatics, formation and night flying in the single-engine, propeller-driven high performance Trojan trainer aircraft.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Phil Lehr's Beef Wellington Treat

Phil Lehr's steak specialties in the elegant Wellington Room of the Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, are as impressive as the decor. For a memorable dinner, order the Beef Wellington; tender filet mignon topped with chicken liver pate and a California cling peach half, baked in a flaky pastry crust. . . . Vince Licata, the major domo of the Italian and Seafood restaurant that bears his name, is an early riser, for sure. When Vince's Big Ben alarm clock rings out at 5 a.m., he's off for the market to purchase his restaurant supplies. After a short afternoon siesta, he's back at the restaurant for early evening hosting duties. Nothing wrong with this if you enjoy it. . . . The big elk head which adorns the backbar wall at Enrico Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, isn't a gift from Frank Buck. Mr. Elk was bagged by the "king" himself when he was a noted huntsman. We understand that Enrico may slip away to Africa in the near future for a tiger hunt. Maybe the "kid" is going to make a "safari comeback". . . . Fresh fruit daiquiris are a year-round favorite at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco. There is a choice of five delectable flavors to choose from — green apple, strawberry, banana, peach or coconut . . . . Scotty Campbell's, the Redwood City prime ribs of beef headquarters, has made quite a name in the competitive restaurant field during the years it's been in business. Day in and day out, excellence of food and service is the continuous comment from satisfied customers. The decor is tasteful and attractive. One could almost spend the evening just browsing around looking at artifacts and antiques. Co-owner-manager Mary Lou Fox is the target of countless questions on origin and history of the many curios. This is a popular celebrity dine out spot on the Peninsula. . . . A beautiful Cappuccino machine is often a topic of conversation at the Shirt Tail. Brought from Europe at the cost of a small fortune by owner Adrian Stickney, the machine makes the Cappuccino and Irish Coffee, which are considered the drink specialties in the lounge of this splendid Palo Alto restaurant . . . . Miss Kismet is the exotic, new belly dancer who undulates during the Monday and Friday luncheon hours in the lounge at Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. She also returns for the Friday evening Happy Hours, which are billed as "Double Trouble." . . . . Ageless Nick Gust keeps up the fast pace at his three famous Rockaway Beach restaurants, Nicks, The Moonraker, and Captain Charles. This veteran restaurateur, along with his son Charles and lovely wife, Lorraine, run a "tight ship" operation, with never a business lull. . . . Even with the Lake Tahoe, Nevada, area experiencing a late "white" winter season, Bay Areans are making steady treks to the slot machine territory, via Nevada Tours. Their Drive-up and charter fun packages make for an exciting vacation. Call Kay for further information (345-0488). . . . Superior Palace, now open seven days a week, offers a special banquet menu for groups of eight to ten persons, with three different menu prices.

Christopher Columbus Students Attend Outdoor Education School

Forty-seven fifth and sixth grade students from Christopher Columbus Elementary School in Daly City attended the San Mateo Outdoor Education School at La Honda from March 31-April 4.

Last year 40 students from Christopher Columbus were the first from the Jefferson Elementary School District to participate in this county schools program.

Because of the special value and educational opportunities they experienced, great enthusiasm for the program has been generated among parents and students. Earlier this year Christopher Columbus was able to send 100 fifth and sixth graders.

The Outdoor Education School has little similarity to either a normal classroom or a regular summer camp. Classes are held throughout the day and early evening. Highly trained naturalists instruct the students as to the interrelationships of plant/animal communities and the need for ecology so that others later can enjoy the same experiences.

The information and concepts learned first hand on the trails and at the beach are shared with families and reinforced in the classrooms upon return. The students are motivated to learn more through this type of an experience than they ever would be by using textbooks alone.

OFF TO THE WILDERNESS

Chamber Concerts Planned

Madeline Ingram

The San Mateo County Chamber Music Society will present Harpsichordist Madeline Ingram in her debut, as an Artist-in-Residence member of the Society, in its third pair of concerts of the 1975 season.

The concerts will be given with the cooperation of the community services offices of the Community College District at College of San Mateo, April 18, in the Little Theatre, and at the Canada College campus, April 26, in the Main Theatre.

Both concerts will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Ms. Ingram will be heard in music for harpsichord alone and in consort with flute and violin. The solo works include an anonymous "Dompe," Vincent Lubeck's "Preludium in a minor," and Two Sonatas in C Major by Scarlatti.

Artists-In-Residence, flautist Alexandra Hawley, and violinist Helen Beyer will each be featured in a sonata with the harpsichord, the former in a work by Antonio Vivaldi, and the latter in a work by the contemporary American composer, Walter Piston.

In addition, the three women will combine their instruments and artistic resources in a performance of Jacques Ibert's "Two Interludes," and Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D Major. Assisting them in the Bach work will be violinist Ruth Klipfel, violist Erwin Gordon, and cellist Jessica Schackne.

Ms. Ingram comes to San Mateo County from the East Coast, having been a member of the faculty at Oberlin Conservatory, and the Eastman School of Music. She concertized extensively with chamber music groups devoted to the performance of Renaissance and Baroque music.

Her repertoire and performances also include works from this century. She is the owner of the large concert size harpsichord made by Eric Herz of Boston. It is this modern instrument that will be heard on the Chamber Music Society's concerts.

Tournament Of Knights At Palace

The Tournament of Knights, an old world sporting event complete with jousting knights from London, will make it's first appearance in the United States when it comes to the Cow Palace on April 29.

This show, which depends on the nostalgia craze, will have jousts and duels with authentic medieval weapons, along with displays of falconry, ox roasting, archery, ax throwing, court jesters, strolling minstrels and players.

Even more awe inspiring is when audiences witness the jousting with two knights riding on horseback, hard at each other along the tilt, each carrying a 70-pound sword and a 12-foot lance and closing at an impact speed of up to 60 miles an hour. Hand to hand sword fighting with mace and broadsword, will be highlighted.

YOUR FAMILY NEEDS ALL 4 BASIC FOODS DAILY

Today's markets offer a tremendous variety of foods for eating pleasure. We should know how to choose foods for sound nutrition as well as eating enjoyment. The USDA has recommended an easy-to-follow Basic-4 Food Guide to help plan daily meals. Each of the four food groups contains nutrients important to good health. Choose at least the minimum number of servings from each of the groups. Then choose additional items from all four groups or from other foods not included in the four groups. These foods can be added to make meals more appetizing and attractive. Sizes of servings will differ, of course, with sizes, ages and activity of individuals. (Small for young children, large for very active adults and teen-agers.) Pregnant or nursing women also need more food from the Basic-4 Groups.

Meat Group

Foods Included:

Beef, veal, lamb, pork, variety meats such as liver, heart and kidney. Poultry and eggs. Fish and shellfish. As alternates — dry beans, dry peas, lentils, nuts, peanuts, peanut butter.

Recommended Amounts:

Two or more servings daily. Count as 1 serving: 2 to 3 ounces of lean cooked meat, poultry or fish (count boneless portions only). Count as alternates for 1 serving of meat or fish: 2 eggs; 1 cup cooked dry beans, dry peas or lentils; 4 tablespoons peanut butter.

Milk Group

Foods Included:

Milk: fluid whole, evaporated, skim, dry, buttermilk. Cheese: cottage, cream, cheddar type, natural or processed. Ice Cream.

Recommended Amounts:

Milk (8-oz cups or glasses): children under 9, 2-3 cups; children 9-12, 3 or more cups; teen-agers, 4 or more cups; adults, 2 or more cups.

Cheese and Ice Cream: amount it will take to replace a given amount of milk is figured on the basis of calcium content. Examples are: 1-inch cube cheddar-type cheese equals ½ cup milk; ½ cup cottage cheese equals ½ cup milk; 2 tablespoons cream cheese equals 1 tablespoon milk; and ½ cup ice cream equals ¼ cup milk.

Fruit-Vegetable Group

Foods Included:

All vegetables and fruits. Emphasized are those valuable as sources of vitamin C and vitamin A.

Recommended Amounts:

Four or more servings every day, including 1 serving of good source of vitamin C or 2 servings of a fair source; 1 serving, at least every other day, of a source of vitamin A. If the food chosen for vitamin C is also a source of vitamin A, the additional serving of a vitamin A food may be omitted. The remaining 1 to 3 or more servings may be any vegetable or fruit, including those valuable for their vitamin C or vitamin A. Count as 1 serving: ½ cup of vegetable or fruit; or a portion as ordinarily served, such as 1 medium apple, banana, orange, or potato, half a medium grapefruit or cantaloupe, or the juice of 1 lemon.

Good Sources of Vitamin C: Grapefruit or grapefruit juice, orange or orange juice, cantaloupe, guava, mango, papaya, fresh strawberries, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, green pepper, sweet red pepper.

Fair Sources of Vitamin C: Honeydew melon, lemon, tangerine or tangerine juice, watermelon, asparagus tips, raw cabbage, cauliflower, collards, garden cress, kale, kohlrabi, mustard greens, potatoes and sweet potatoes cooked in the jacket, rutabagas, spinach, tomatoes or tomato juice, turnip greens.

Sources of Vitamin A: Dark-green and deep-yellow vegetables and a few fruits, namely, apricots, cantaloupe, mango, persimmon and pumpkin.

Bread-Cereal Group

Foods Included:

All breads and cereals that are whole grain, enriched or restored. Specifically, this group includes: breads, cereals, corn meal, crackers, flour, grits, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, rice, rolled oats, quick breads and other baked goods if made with whole grain or enriched flour. Parboiled rice and wheat also fit in this group.

Recommended Amounts:

Four or more servings daily. Or, if no cereals are selected, choose an extra serving of breads or baked goods, which will make at least 5 servings from this group daily. Count as 1 serving: 1 slice of bread, 1 ounce ready-to-eat cereal, ½ to ¾ cup cooked cereal, corn meal, grits, macaroni, noodles, rice or spaghetti.

Other Foods

To round out meals and meet energy needs, almost everyone will use some foods not specified in the Basic-4 groups. These will include such things as sugars, butter, margarine and other fats. These often are ingredients in a recipe, or are added to other foods during preparation or at the table.

Try to include some vegetable oil among the fats used.

THE BARKEEPS

All set to serve their guests at Holy Angels' Monte Carlo Night are committee members Ray Thompson, John Brignoli and Marian Swanson. The event, which will be held Saturday night, is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall, 107 San Pedro Road. An evening of games, prizes, refreshments and other festivities will be offered for all parishioners and friends who attend.

Alcoholism Course Due At Peninsula Hospital

An intensive course for professionals in emergency medical and psychiatric treatment of alcoholism will be presented in four sessions over two weekends this month at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

The course, which carries a $40 fee for non-credit, and $50 for credit of one unit, is available through the College of Notre Dame in Belmont.

The objective of the course, according to Sally Wagner, R.N., co-ordinator, will be to sharpen differential perception of the alcohol abuse syndrome as encountered in emergency service delivery systems.

It also is intended to develop skills and attitudes that can be utilized to deliver appropriate services to any intoxicated patient with maximum effectiveness.

The most recent research findings and procedures in the field of alcoholism will be studied and compared in the four sessions, which will be held April12 and 13 and April 26 and 27.

Content areas include the physiological, psychosocial, cultural and legal aspects of alcoholism, treatment suitable to the emergency service setting, and availability of treatment resources.

In addition to the general lectures, a considerable amount of time will be devoted to small-focus groups which will explore methods for recognizing and dealing with the emotional components associated with management and treatment of intoxicated patients.

Listed as faculty for the program are Charles E. Becker, M.D., president of the California Society for the Treatment of Alcoholism and Other Drug Dependencies; Robert O'Briant, M.D., director of Alcoholism Programs, Garden-Sullivan Hospital, San Francisco; Robert Scott, M.D., of the alcoholic detoxification unit at San Francisco General Hospital; Gil Ayotte, M.D., director of the alcohol detoxification unit at the United States Public Health Service Hospital, San Francisco; Larry Persson, L.C.S.W., Don Sherwood, Radio Staton KSFO, and State Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, who has authored several pieces of legislation regarding alcoholism.

NEW ROTARIANS

Two local businessmen of Serramonte Center were recently inducted into the Rotary Club of Daly City. They are Clarence Cretan of The Ringmakers Diamond Shop and Larry Keith of The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Pictured (from left) are Rotary President Floyd Gonella, Clarence Cretan, Larry Keith, and their Rotary Sponsor Herbert Tweedie. The local Rotary has over 50 members among local business managers and professional men dedicated to mutual acquaintance, high ethical conduct and service to the community. Rotary holds a weekly luncheon meeting each Wednesday at the Ranch Inn at Serramonte Center.

SBP Summer School Forms Are Available

Summer school enrollment applications still are being accepted by the San Bruno Park School District for the session which will run from July 1 through Aug. 1 from 8:20 a.m. to 12:40 p.m.

Any San Bruno child slated to enter grades one through eight in the fall is eligible to attend. This applies to parochial as well as public school students.

Summer school principals have just been announced. They are Ed Emling, Paul Fregulia, and Russell Hanley.

Applicants should contact their nearest school, the district office at 500 Acacia, or the Curricular Services Center, 925 San Mateo Ave. for enrollment forms and a complete list of courses.

Students who will be attending first or second grade in the fall will enroll in a primary school program at the school closest to their home.

Those entering third through fifth grade next school year will attend Belle Air or Crestmoor School, while sixth through eighth graders will go to Parkside School. In the regular summer session at these schools, 44 different courses are being offered ranging from math, reading, and language arts to folk guitar, journalism, fixit factory and model airplanes.

The Latin American program, which is financed with Federal Office of Economic Opportunity funds, will be held at Allen School.

Daly City and Brisbane Were Not Reviewed

Jack Estes Announces New Increases in Assessments

Owners of some 82,000 parcels of property in San Mateo County will be receiving the bad news next week of increased assessments, County Assessor Jack Estes announced Friday.

Estes said that assessment increases on residential, apartment and commercial property reviewed this year will range from 20 per cent to 60 per cent.

He reported that single family residential neighborhoods in sections of 15 of the county's 18 incorporated cities as well as neighborhoods in unincorporated areas have been reviewed. The only cities where review did not take place were Brisbane, Daly City and Hillsborough.

Commercial properties in Burlingame, Pacifica, San Mateo, Menlo Park and Redwood City, as well as apartments in Menlo Park, Foster City, East Redwood City and San Bruno also were reviewed.

Estes reported that the assessed valuation of residential areas reviewed is up an average of 30 per cent, and will average 35 per cent in Atherton, Redwood City and San Carlos; 40 per cent in Menlo Park (west of Bayshore Freeway) and 45 per cent in Belmont.

Other residential areas reviewed include Foster City, nearly all of Burlingame and San Mateo east of Bayshore Freeway.

The assessor said that the average assessment increase for the Burlingame commercial area is 35 per cent, with some properties shooting up 60 per cent.

Assessment increases average 30 to 35 per cent for the commercial areas south of Redwood City and in Menlo Park on the west side of El Camino Real, as well as Las Lomitas and University Heights.

Also reassessed was the commercial area of San Mateo along both sides of El Camino Real between 19th Avenue and 31st Avenue.

All of the county's regional shopping center — Hillsdale, Westlake, Tanforan and Serramonte — are in the process of being reviewed, Estes said.

Overall, the assessor reported, the average assessment increase this year will be about the same as last year.

Unincorporated residential areas where there have been assessment increases include the Skyline area of Skylonda, Woodside Highlands and Cuesta La Honda, and the Ladera area west of Menlo Park.

Estes said that property reviewed and increased last year will not receive notices unless additions, alterations or changes to a building have been made during the year.

The assessor urged property owners to examine their notices and determine if they have evidence that the property is worth less than the indicated full value. If so, they can discuss it with Estes's staff. Information on the back of the notice explains the procedure to follow.

Estes said that the first mailing of notices will begin April 11.

The assessment increases effect almost one-half of the 185,000 parcels of property in the county.

In noting the increases for the residential areas, which are reassessed every two years, Estes said that the values continue to go up, although there have been less sales this year.

He cited comparative figures for 1973 and 1974 cities, supplied by the Multiple Listing Service of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors.

In 1973, there were 343 sales of single family homes in Foster City at an average price of $46,300. In 1974, there were 406 sales at an average price of $55,700.

In Burlingame, a total of 233 homes were sold through Multiple Listing Service in 1973 at an average price of $55,250. The next year, there were 237 sales at an average price of $60,170.

Student Journalists Awarded

Top student journalists at 35 San Mateo County schools were honored Thursday night at the second annual School Newspaper Contest awards presentation ceremony at Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno.

The contest was sponsored by The Times Post and Tanforan Park. The awards were presented by Congressman Leo J. Ryan in the shopping center mall, where the winning entries were on display throughout the day and will remain through Sunday.

Winners of the general excellence awards in their categories were the newspapers published by Linda Mar Junior High School, Ravenswood High School and Skyline College.

Willie Ritchie: A Unique Man

Willie Ritchie, the former lightweight champion who died recently at age 84 in Millbrae, was a unique man, as well as a fighter of unique abilities. We did two or three magazine pieces on him, a series of articles for the San Mateo Times, and devoted several of these columns to the man, his times, his stories and his accomplishments. We never tired of his dialogue, and know that there would have been more columns and articles had he lived longer.

There were many things about Ritchie that were admirable. Obviously, his ring record was outstanding. His physical appearance was amazing. We got to know him when he was 77 years old. He was st ll golfing several times a week, bowling almost as often, stood straight, was barely over his best fighting weight of 135 pounds, lean, hard and tanned. More impressive was the condition of his head and of his face. He spoke clearly, lucidly and intelligently, the antithesis of the punch-drunk fighter.

Most 77-year-olds who had never had a fight, could not have matched him in a verbal scuffle. His face was "marred" by only two remnants of his ring career; a slightly cauliflowered ear and a small scar above one eyebrow, both of which were received at the end of his career.

"I got careless," Ritchie told us, "and I knew that when a fighter starts getting careless in a ring, it's time to quit, so I did."

Ritchie fought during the days when boxing was looked upon as a science, and he treated his craft as such. His philosophy was that a good fighter SHOULDN'T get punched, a notion which, in a later era, seems to have become reversed.

But for all of that, Ritchie was, we feel, more admirable for what he did outside the ring.

Not only, on a more intangible plane, did he obviously serve boxing as a goodwill ambassador just by being himself, he also did some very hard practical things during the time he was both a member and later chief boxing inspector of the California State Athletic Commission.

DURING HIS TENURE from 1934-62, he did enough for his beloved sport to inspire boxing historians to write that Ritchie did more to clean up the hoodlum element in California boxing than any Chief Inspector in history. In 1952 the hoods and politicians were waging such a war with Ritchie that, for his own safety, his L.A. office was moved to San Francisco. Here, he continued his crusade to purify boxing, fighting not only the hoods, but official laxity, as well. One of his major achievements was to insure that no fighter with eye damage would ever fight in California.

When Ritchie retired, Nat Fleischer, perhaps boxing's greatest expert and historian, said, "No official in boxing can boast of the excellent record of Ritchie."

Ritchie remained physically active until just the past year or two, but even then, when he should have been worrying about his golf or bowling scores, he was concerned about boxing.

"Boxing still needs reforms," he told us a few years ago, "a national commissioner, for instance, a respected and well known person, one who knows the game inside out from his own first hand knowledge."

Ritchie, always modest, never realized that he was describing himself.

IT'S OBVIOUS that the Warriors improved this year, and, as all the publicity lately has been pointing out, rookies Keith Wilkes and Phil Smith have been important factors in that improvement. But the improvement of some of the vets has been forgotten by some in the heat of rookie praise.

While it would be ridiculous to assert that Rick Barry has been overlooked, most of the praise due him has been concentrated on intangible contributions in his new role as a leader and consumate team player. What has almost been obscured is the fact that Barry is having his best NBA shooting year since 1966, when he led the NBA in scoring with a 35.6 average, that he's one of only two players in all of pro basketball (the other being, naturally, Bob McAdoo) who is averaging better than 30 points a game. He's shooting better from the floor than he ever has. His lifetime mark is 45.0, he shot 45.1 in '66, 45.2 in 1972, 45.6 last year. But this season, with only two games remaining as this is being written, Barry's average from the floor is 46.1. He's also about to better all of his free throw marks. His lifetime is 88.4 (the best in the history of the game, thus far), his seasonal best 90.2, which he achieved in '72. But this year he is at 90.5. He is also about to post his highest number of assists.

Rick, additionally, is going for an All-Time NBA steal record (he's currently averaging 2.8 per game), although while that is impressive, the fact that steals were not officially computed by the NBA until last year removes some of the lustre from that record.

Another case in point is Butch Beard. While he's drawn much criticism this year, it's been generally forgotten that he's having his second best shooting year in pro ball by averaging close to 13 points a game — quite a feat for a guard who is in shooting competition with sharp-shooters like Barry and Wilkes. In 1971, while with Cleveland, Beard averaged 15.4 per game, but his shooting percentage from the floor was 46.4 as compared to this year's constant average of over 51.0, which has kept him in the top five currently tied for second in that category in the NBA, all year. He also has his highest total of assists since '71, and is far over his lifetime free throw percentage (76.0) or his best seasonal mark (82.8 in '69) with an 83.9. He even has many more rebounds this year than he's ever had in a single season.

Last example is Charley Johnson, who is, simply, statistically — and in seemingly all other ways — twice as good this year as he was in his first two seasons as a pro.

During those first two years, Charley, playing an average of only 65 games a season, averaging only 15 minutes a game, averaged 6.2 points a game, 2.4 rebounds, 1.7 assists.

This year, Johnson has played in every Warrior game but three, averaging almost 28 minutes per game. He's making 11 points a game, 4.0 rebounds, 2.9 assists. Last year he averaged 1.05 steals, this year he's among league leaders with 1.7.

And let's not forget Clifford Ray. While he's not having his best year, he's having one of his best, and he's certainly been the steadiest Warrior, aside from Barry, of course.

Speaking of Barry, the fact of his appearing as a basketball Superman in the current issue of Sport Magazine, with the Golden Gate Bridge in the background, certainly disproves Oakland's claim that the Warriors are no longer a San Francisco team. Add the supposed fact that Warrior officials are considering changing the "Golden Staters" to the "Golden Gaters," and who knows, they may yet become a Daly City team. The Cow Palace is still in Daly City, isnt it?

LOCAL NOTE:

Several weeks ago we wrote that Pacifica's Bob McClure, out of Terra Nova High, had an excellent chance to stick with Kansas City this season as a left-handed starter or, at worst, in the bullpen. He may have that chance late in the season, but right now he's sidelined with a broken arm suffered in a mishap in Pacifica. Whey does it always have to happen to they-young eager, promising guys?

FASTEST YET

Serramonte High hurdler Tony Hicks flashed to a 38.7 clocking in the 330-yard low hurdles Thursday as the Regents downed South San Francisco in a crucial meet 83-54. Hicks led teammate Tom Bobertz to the tape by three-tenths of a second in the top two 330 times run to date in the Central Coast Section.

Skyline's Ike Allmond Named Meet's Finest

SANTA MARIA — Skyline College's Ike Allmond won both hurdles races in impressive style and ran a leg on the Trojans' third-place 400 meter relay team to garner outstanding athlete honors in the Allan Hancock College Metri Invitational over the weekend.

Skyline also took the mile relay in 3:25.1. It was the only track event not run at metric distance because of difficulty in measuring relay zone staggers. That team consisted of John Novo (51.4), Brian Pierce (51.6), Ron Honstra (51.1) and Ray Watts (51.0) as host Hancock finished well back in 3:27.5 for second.

Allmond clocked a meet record 14.4 in the 110 meter high hurdles (about the same distance as 120-yard hurdles) and then took the 400 meter intermediate hurdles in 55.7 (equivalent to 56.0 for 440 yards). He won a portable radio for the "MVP" honors.

In other good performances, Pierce was timed in 1:57.0 for third place in the 800 meters; Greg Bodmer threw the javelin 179-5 to better his own week-old school record of 177-11 but placed fourth as Coast Conference rival Hartnell grabbed the first two spots; and three Trojan quartermilers ran their personal bests.

Watts placed second in the 400 meters in 50.5, Ron Honstra third in 50.8 and Novo fifth in 51.4. (Their equivalent 440 yard times would be 50.8, 51.1 and 51.7, respectively.)

Trojan distance ace John McVeigh placed fourth in the 5000 meters in 15:28.2 but was the second JC finisher as two ex-JC athletes took first and third. Cabrillo's Jack Reime ran 15:02.6 for second.

Skyline competed without school record holders Tony Fotinos (mile) and Mike Gilmore (long jump), both resting muscle injuries.

DC Junior Teen Volleyball Tournament Set Saturday

The Annual Junior Teen Co-Recreational volleyball tournament, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, will take place on April 12 at the Westlake Community Center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd.

Four teen clubs, Colma Imperials, Telstars, and Westlake will compete from 6:30-10 p.m. for the championship.

This tournament originated 13 years ago in Daly City and is designed for junior teens to learn the basic skills and team play of volleyball. Three girls and three boys make up each playing team. A girl must hit the ball each time it passes over the net.

Last year's champs, Colma, should receive stiff but fun competition from the other clubs, according to reports from teen advisors.

Bus pickups will be as follows for teams and cheerleaders: Midway Community Center, 5:15 p.m.; Imperials War Memorial Community Center, 5:30 p.m.; Colma: Westmoor Park, 6 p.m., Telstars.

For further information, contact the Recreation Department Office at 992-5356.

UP AND OVER

A Daly City Junior Teen Club member practices for a Co-Recreational volleyball tournament scheduled April 12 from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at the Westlake Community Center.

Brawlers Dump Supersonics

The Brawlers, led by 19 point efforts by Mike Simon and Mark Reed, swamped the young Supersonics 77-37 in Daly City High School Recreation League Action last week.

Len Tricerri tossed in 19 for the 'Sonics. The Brawler victory pushes their record to 4-0, tops in the league.

In other action the OLM Reds nipped the previously undefeated Celtics 44-40 in a tight contest, while the Warriors broke their undefeated string by running past OLM B 39-30. The Brewers outlasted the scrappy Supersonics 51-26 in previous action.

Rams Win on Price's Homer

A two-run seventh inning homer by Corey Price lifted Westmoor High to a 5-3 win over Serramonte in a North Peninsula League baseball game Monday.

Pitcher Rob Baptista, who got the win in relief, chipped in with a triple and a double.

The win moved Westmoor (2-1) into a tie for second with South San Francisco, behind unbeaten Half Moon Bay and Terra Nova.

Regent's Hicks Runs CCS Best

Serramonte High speedsters continued to take turns in the spotlight Thursday as the Regents downed South San Francisco 83-54.

The win in what was expected to be a close meet put unbeaten Serramonte on the inside track to a North Peninsula League title. In other meets Thursday Oceana downed El Camino 91-43 and Terra Nova topped Half Moon Bay 107-28.

Serramonte's Ron Kennedy, who wrote two County records last weekend, "eased" off for triple wins in the sprints and quarter mile at less than his best times.

Meanwhile hurdlers Tony Hicks and Tom Bobertz took aim at Kennedy's 39.6 mark in the 330 low hurdles and wiped it out.

Hicks flashed across the line in 38.7, fastest time to date in the Central Coast Section, and Bobertz finished in 39.0 after ticking the last hurdle.

Earlier Hicks had won the high hurdles in 14.6 right after running a 440 relay leg, and Bobertz ran 14.8.

Serramonte showed unexpected strength, which was exemplified by Eric Johnson's high jump. Half the team gathered round to watch the 5-6 Johnson come up with a 6-0 effort to win — and at that point the Regents knew they had the meet won.

SSF's Dan John threw the discus 153-7, a County best this year.

Oceana had few problems at El Camino. Bill LaForge turned in his usual steady performance — a 1:59.7 win the half mile, 4:33.5 win in the mile and a leg on each of the winning relay teams. Ken Miller and John Weis were also double winners.

Terra Nova took firsts in all but two events against HMB. Sprinter Rennie Guterres and hurdler John Johnson each scored double wins for the Tigers.

CSM Thrashes Laney Spikes

College of San Mateo rolled up its biggest point margin in several seasons Monday, thrashing visiting Laney, 104-39, in a Golden Gate Conference track and field dual which had been postponed from Friday because of rain.

The Bulldogs swept all three places in six events to post their first league win in five tries in the tough GGC and advance their over-all record to 2-4, entering their next outing, Friday at Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill.

Weightman Jeff Vetrovec won both the discus (136-0) and javelin (137-10), and placed second in the shot at 44-8½ to teammate Mark Rockwood (45-2) as the Bulldogs swept the weights.

Although distance ace Jim Van Dine sat out the meet because of bronchitis, the Bulldogs still swept the two mile, behind Steve Palladino's 10:00.0.

CSM decathlon star Marlon Murphy won the high jump at 6'0, was second in the 220 in 23.6 and third in the 100 (10.9) and triple jump at 40-0 on the cold afternoon.

Ron Bramlett tied Vetrovec for high point honors with wins in the long and triple jumps (21-9¾, 41-8½) and a second in the high jump (5-10).

San Mateo won every field event, with Ryon Paton's 15-0 vault leading a sweep there.

Laney won four of the first five running events but only the intermediate hurdles after that.

'It Doesn't Matter What Size You Are'

'Devvie' Nelson Is a Judo Champion

Devoto "Devvie" Nelson of Burlingame, a Capuchino High School physical education teacher, is preparing for next year's Pan American games as a new national women's judo champion.

"Devvie," 24, was raised in South Francisco, Francisco, the daughter of Donald Nelson, a battalion chief with the South San Francisco Fire Department.

She won the national title in the 130-142 pound class at the National Judo Championships in Los Angeles last month, defeating 65 other women in a series of round-robin matches.

Miss Nelson entered the competition as the West Coast champion in her weight class.

She has competed in the sport only three years, but she had been a member of the Millbrae Lions women's track team previously.

Because of that, she said, "I didn't have to get myself into proper physical condition first." While a competitive runner, she had been the Western States' girls' 880 champion.

"Devvie" said she still runs three to four miles daily.

She said she learned judo from Willy Cahill, a neighbor, and she still spends at least one evening a week at Cahill's Judo Academy in San Bruno. She teaches there.

She also teaches judo, along with virtually every other sport at Cap. She referees a girls' football team and coaches tennis and softball.

"Devvie" attended South San Francisco High School and received her degree and teaching credential from San Francisco State University two years ago. She taught at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica last year.

Although she advocates judo for everyone with a competitive spirit, Miss Nelson said the sport can be valuable for youngsters having difficulty in other sports.

"It doesn't matter what size you are," she said. "If a youngster does not excell in baseball or basketball, he can still score a success in judo."

She said judo teaches coordination and self-confidence.

"People can carry themselves better," she said.

Ju-jitsu, she added, can help children protect themselves.

M.P. Brown School Cage Jamboree Winners

A team of five girls from M.P. Brown School in Daly City came out the victors in the Girls' Basketball Jamboree sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and held at the Westlake Community Center on March 25.

The winning team consisted of Verna Castro, Liselotte Gardner, Jackie Del Mastro, Angela Rizzo and Anne Culver and was coached by recreation leader Linda Winetrob.

The "A" team from Robertson School finished in second place and the "B" team from Robertson finished third. Both Robertson teams were coached by recreation leader Ed Barney.

In i fourth place and rounding out the field for the four-team tournament was a team from F. D. Roosevelt School which was coached by recreation leader Bill Zachry.

THE WINNING TEAM

Daly City Gymnasts Compete at SM College

Four members of the Daly City Crickets Gymnastic Team, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, recently competed in the Northern California Zone II, Class II Championship held at the College of San Mateo.

Competition included both compulsory and optional routines on the balance beam, uneven parallel bars vaulting and floor exercise.

More than 75 young ladies, representing Bay Area Clubs, vied for top honors and the opportunity to compete in the District Championship scheduled this month.

Cricket members competing were: Kelley Cunneen, Cathy Ryan, Elizabeth Santos and Audrey Grosch.

Golden Hinde Voyage Film

The Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet at 11:30 a.m. April 14 at the Westlake Community Center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd., Daly City.

Members are requested to bring a bag lunch. Coffee and snack will be available for a donation of 25 cents during the social hour preceding the meeting.

A color film of the voyage of the Golden Hinde II, compliments of the Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Association, will be shown.

Residents 55 years of age or older of Daly City, Colma, Pacifica and South San Francisco are invited to attend.
